Will retire

Miss Vira D. Petraska, shown performing her duties as assistant manager of Manufacturers Bank of Detroit, Romulus branch, will retire at the end of November after 44 years of service to the communities

Vira Petraska quits bank after 44 years

A familiar face at the Manufacturers Bank of Detroit branch office in Romulus will no longer be greeting customers and transacting business after the end of November.

After 44 years of service to the communities of Romulus, Belleville, New Boston and Wayne, Miss Vira D. Petraska, assistant manager, will retire. She plans to travel extensively.

Miss Petraska will be honored at a testimonial dinner Oct. 30, 1979 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 35100 Van Born Rd., Wayne.

She was born in the Romulus area and graduated from Belleville High School. She immediately went to work in September of 1935 with the Romulus State Bank. When that bank became a branch of Manufacturers Bank in 1960, Miss Petraska continued working for the new bank in her position of assistant cashier.

Many of the bank's customers have received guidance, financial counseling and good old commonsense advice from her for three to four generations.

"Her devotion and dedication in serving the community have been a tremendous asset to the people of the area and our bank," said Leo Kalota, vice president.

Tickets at $12.50 each will include dinner and an open bar. Anyone wishing to attend or to contribute in any way is asked to call Mrs. Eleanor Miller or Mrs. Debbie Block at the Romulus bank branch, 941-0600, before Oct. 17, 1979.

City will help greet Republicans in 1980

Representatives from Romulus and other cities throughout the tri-county area met in Detroit last week to formally organize as the Metropolitan Area Coordinating Council, an arm of the Civic Host Committee. The council will be responsible for welcoming an expected 20,000 people to the area next year for the 1980 Republican National Convention, most of whom will pass through Romulus.

Romulus, represented at the meeting by Public Information Officer Jay Young and Chamber of Commerce Board Member Peter Bergeron, will be the entrance point to the area for approximately 90 percent of the people attending the convention.

In addition, the city's six major hotels may house several state delegations as well as members of the media and other convention goers.

Plans are being formulated for special events, information booths at all hotels manned around the clock, receptions, special camping areas, an airport welcoming group, and many other possibilities, all designed to leave people with a good impression of Romulus.

The Coordinating Council will work closely with some 18 other committees, organized under the Civic Host Committee, to arrange for such things as transportation, special events, decorations, housing, volunteer help, merchandising, food, hospitality and much more.

Volunteers from the community will be needed to assist with all aspects of Romulus' role in the convention. Anyone interested is requested to direct their inquiries through the Romulus Public Information Office, 941-0666, extension 20.

Ticket requests to attend the convention, however, should be directed to Ranny Riecker, Michigan National Committeewoman, Republican State Committee, 223 North Walnut, Lansing, Mich. 48933.

A special ribbon-cutting ceremony, attended by Gov. William Milliken, Detroit Mayor Coleman Young and GM Board Chairman Thomas Murphy will be held next week in Detroit to formally open the Civic Host Committee Headquarters.

Romulus beauty committee gets state service award

The Romulus Beautification Committee has been singled out from among more than 100 other Michigan communities to receive Keep Michigan Beautiful Inc.'s "Distinguished Service Award."

Mayor William M. Oakley, in a letter to the Romulus City Council last week announced the award by congratulating the members of the committee on their "outstanding job of involving the entire city in a wide variety of projects and beautification activities, the effects of which have far outlasted the seven days in May designated as Clean-Up Week."

"It is indeed a credit to our city," Oakley continued, "that the committee was accorded this high honor and the subsequent recognition given them at the KMB Award Banquet in Lansing in October, will provide further positive exposure for the city of Romulus on a state-wide basis."

Council President Mary Ann Banks and council member Beverly McAnally echoed the mayor's sentiments, and joined the council in unanimously approving a special resolution honoring the committee.

Held the week of May 12-19, the "Sweep it Clean for Spring" campaign included a pine tree give-away offer, free marigold seeds, free paint, special trash bags, (still on sale at city hall for only $8.50 per 100), city and school site tree plantings, new trash barrels for the downtown area, an elementary school poster contest, an organized clean sweep effort starting at city hall and weekend dumpster service available at the DPW until the end of September.

At the council's urging, several members of the Beautification Committee will represent the city at the Oct. 23, 1979 awards ceremony in Lansing.

Current members of the committee include: Chairperson Midge Prybyla, Vice-chairperson Dorothy Phenix, secretary-treasurer Judy Rakotz, Betty Kitchens Carla Barker, Grace Boc and Noeline Suesine.

Public Information Officer Jay Young serves as advisor to the group.

State blocks access site to area lake

A natural access site on Belleville Lake used by scores of boaters was not blocked last week by vandals as believed, but was barricaded with several tons of debris on orders of the state.

Investigation by the Enterprise revealed that the order to block the access site on Haggerty Road just north of Huron River Drive was given by Al Olson, excess property representative for the Michigan Dept. of Transportation.

Although he admitted giving the order, Olson did not know who actually placed the tons of broken concrete slabs and culvert across the access site on the west side of Haggerty Road. He said it could have been done by the department's maintenance division.

However, George Heifner, a neighbor and chairman of the township's safety commission, commented, "I wouldn't be surprised if a group of concerned citizens paid to have it done."

Heifner had recently announced strong support for Gil Gillespie, new owner of a nearby privately operated marina where boaters must pay to launch their craft in the water.

Gillespie and his wife, Sandy, recently purchased the Guenther's Marina and renamed it Sandy's Marina. Their marina sits across the lake west from the blocked natural access site.

Gillespie was upset over a picture of the blocked access site in last week's Enterprise because he felt the caption indicated he was responsible.

He denied having anything to do with the physical blocking of the access site, but did admit to making numerous complaints to the state about its continued use by boaters putting their craft into the lake at no charge.

The only other access site for boats to the lake is one recently built by the state Dept. of Natural Resources (DNR) that is located west of Sandy's Marina.

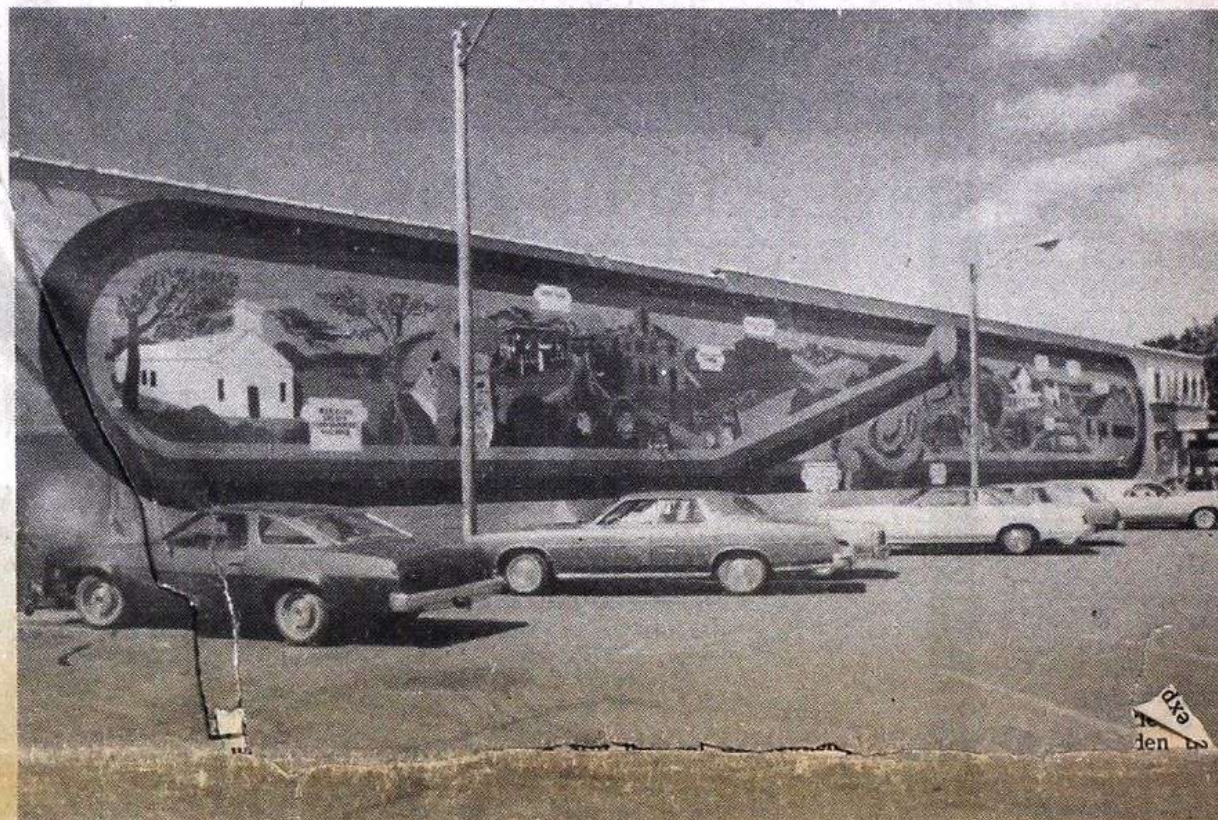

Oddly enough, the Enterprise learned that the DNR had ordered its launching site closed. It had informed Van Buren Township that rather than operate at a loss, it would let Sandy's have the business for the rest of the boating season.

A routine call from the township to the DNR prompted a department spokesman to state its access site had been closed for "political reasons."

Heifner, who strongly resents boaters using the natural access site, said serious problems could result if the township attempted to move the debris blocking the launching site. He said "Private Property" signs approved by the state are supposed to be erected by the Wayne County Road Commission.

However, Sup. Pat Cullin said, "The township will not be involved with blocking or unblocking the access site to Belleville Lake because it is on state property."

She was at a loss to explain what the DNR meant by "political reasons" for closing its access site.

Bilmar's does its part

Bilmar's Supermarket in Romulus recently contributed to beautification efforts by businesses in the downtown section. A huge mural running the entire length of the east side of the building depicts the history and growth of the

Reward grows in murder

The reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of a Romulus gasoline operator who was slain last Dec. 1 has now reached $5,000.

Romulus City Council recently voted to add $500 to the reward money offered to find who killed Thomas Havard, 51, in the early hours of that winter day last year.

Thus far, Havard's ex-wife, Dolly Havard, has offered $2,000, which was matched by the Detroit News under its secret witness program. The News also will match the $500 put up by the city of Romulus, making the total reward $5,000 in all.

According to the victim's ex-wife, Havard was shot by an unknown assailant and found dead by a passerby who came to her residence across the street to notify her of the crime.

Havard operated the TH Gas Co. at the corner of Ecorse and Hannan roads.

Mrs. Havard pleaded that anyone with information about who shot and killed her ex-husband should notify the Detroit News secret witness program immediately.

Grounds at dam cleaned

Grounds at the old French Landing Dam on Belleville Lake in Van Buren Township are being given a much-needed facelift by pre-apprentices working under a federal grant to restore the old Detroit Edison power plant. Dam hopefully will be generating electrical power following three-year project costing more than $3 million and training some 80 pre-apprentice workers in various trades. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

RANDOLPH GEAR

Romulus resident works at Cranbrook

A Romulus resident, who teaches at Cass Technical High School in Detroit, this year spent his summer vacation working with Horizons - Upward Bound at Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills.

Randolph Gear worked with the six-week segment of the year-round program at Cranbrook, which helps middle-range youngsters from low-income families realize the advantages of higher education.

Gear worked with students from Highland Park, Pontiac and Berkley who exhibited works created over a six-week period in art, English, science and drama.

Gear said this year's art exhibit, which contained over 80 framed drawings, paintings, and huge paper machines, was said by alumni to be the best in the program's 15-year existence.

Cranbrook attempted to create a bridge relationship with urban public education in 1965 with a seed grant from the Ford Foundation. Expiration of the Ford grant in 1967 brought about a search for private funding by the host institution.

Currently, some 200 students from 11 middle schools are involved in the Horizons-Upward Bound program, Gear explained.

County meets payroll...

Paychecks for employees of Wayne County are questionable these days, after the county met its payroll "successfully," but barely, Aug. 30.

County officials, however, are "aggressively pursuing every other alternate means" to keep employees working and to continue public services, according to the chairman of the County Board of Commissioners.

Although he admitted the near possibility of "payless" paydays or layoffs or a combination of both, Board Chairman Richard E. Manning said he was confident that the county would survive until Dec. 1, the beginning of a new fiscal year.

Manning made that comment after the third turn-down from the State Municipal Finance Commission for permission to borrow $22 million on next year's tax revenues and use of an additional $5.4 million the MFC will not allow the county to spend.

A suit against both those decisions has been filed by the County Office of Corporation Counsel and is pending before the State Court of Appeals. Manning said the state Supreme Court has announced that it would not rule on a simultaneous action filed with them until the Appellate Court has ruled.

He explained that suits were filed in the courts to save time if the Appellate body decided against the county petition. "The prospect of payless paydays and absence of public service dictated that we act expeditiously," said Manning.

The payroll on Sept. 7, as will be the one on Sept. 14, is covered by a last-minute $5.2 million released by the State as the County's quarterly due of revenue sharing in state income taxes.

About half the county's 5,500 employees are paid on alternate Fridays, costing approximately $2.5 million each week. General fund workers were paid last week, and paychecks this week will go to others consisting mostly of employees in the General Hospital and Sheriff's Department.

"We consider the $5.2 million last-minute relief because the state has lately been so punitive toward the county," said Manning. "Ordinarily, we would expect that money routinely, but this time we were in doubt because of the state attitude."

Manning was referring to statements from Gov. William Milliken and other state officials refusing financial help for the county until its governing structure is reformed. Although such a plan waiting before the legislature, the Governor earlier vetoed $5.5 million to rescue the county courts system until the end of this fiscal year, and other officials have threatened receivership amounting to state takeover of the county.

In addition, the State Treasurer has declared the county audit system unworkable and ordered a change from county methods to state practices.

"We are being pressured from every side at a time when we are almost helpless," Manning said. "Because of need from the legislature which has been in recess, the Governor is using the Finance Commission, the Treasurer and every other tool at his disposal to worsen rather than help our situation. I hope, at least, that the Court of Appeals realizes that we're doing our best even when the Governor apparently does not."

Meantime efforts to save money and maintain services include prospects of a shortened work-week, delay of cost-of-living allowances and deferred payment of some vendors bills.

When You're Ready for Something Better

Sanyo Home Stereo Systems leave the image of low-fi "compacts" far behind — not only with hi-fidelity performance specifications, but with a selection of deluxe features that are more likely to be found on costly separate components than on complete music systems. For example:

FM "Touch Sensor" Tuning Memory allows pre-tuning 7 FM stations and recalling any one instantly, at a touch of a button.

Separate recording amplifiers and level controls to give cleaner recordings and allow you to listen to what you record at any volume without disturbing the record levels.

Tape Selector Switch provides the best performance with normal, CrO2, or FeCr tape types.

Dolby noise reduction eliminates tape hiss on cassette recordings, producing copies hard to tell from the original source.

City to feel impact of new '80 census

Question: What big events are scheduled to happen in 1980 that are likely to affect most Romulus residents? Answer: The city's tenth birthday celebration; the 1980 Republican National Convention; the 1980 U.S. Census.

If you answered yes to all three questions, you were right. However, the 1980 census is the one event likely to have some impact on your family. It is the goal of the Bureau of the Census to count every person in the United States next year, which will be about 222 million people, no small task by any standard.

Officials accomplish the bulk of the work through a massive mailing campaign of some 86 million pieces, which are to be returned in the mail. Approximately 90 percent of the population will be covered in this manner. The remainder will have to be reached in person.

To count everybody, will require four million square feet of office space, the establishment of 409 temporary offices, 12 permanent offices, 6,000 permanent employees and 275,000 temporary workers.

With that organization and that army of people, the bureau hopes to improve on their record of 1970, when 2½ percent of the population was not counted.

To get the census message across to everyone, the bureau will soon launch a publicity blitz that is designed to be seen, in one form or another, by every person in the country by census day, April 1, 1980.

After that, the totals must be in and counted to present to the President of the United States on Jan. 1, 1981. Three months later, a year after the count began, small area data will be presented for redistricting.

These facts and more were presented to Romulus officials who attended a workshop last week in Detroit, sponsored by the Detroit Regional Census Advisory Committee.

Representing the city were Community Development Director Patrick Hogan and Public Information Officer Jay Young.

For more information about the census and how it will affect you, call the Federal Information Center at 226-7816.

In brief

Charged in break-in

A 19-year-old Romulus man has been charged with the breaking and entering of a Romulus residence a block away from where he lived and selling the stolen merchandise from a field in back of the burglarized house.

Charged with breaking into a house last Aug. 3 at 16366 Middlebelt Rd. in the Meadows Subdivision is Roger B. McKenzie, said Det. Ed Lindberg of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

At his examination last week in Romulus 34th District Court, Judge James B. Stone placed McKenzie under $5,000 bond and ordered him to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court. No date was set.

Lindberg said McKenzie was selling stolen merchandise from field in back of the ransacked residence and that police had recovered many of the items.

He said a second man is being sought for questioning in the case and that a warrant will be issued for his arrest.

Skate party for MD

A skating party will be held at Mayflower Roller Rink, 15061 Middlebelt Rd., in Romulus, on Sept. 30, 1979. All proceeds from the event will be donated to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The event will begin at 1 p.m. and will feature contests, prizes and lots of fun. Tickets can be purchased at Mayflower Roller Rink seven days a week. Each ticket sold will help provide research and equipment for patients afflicted with muscular dystrophy. For further information, call Mayflower Roller Rink at 941-6180.

Aid storm victims

Victims of Hurricanes Frederick and David in Florida got a helping hand from Romulus residents through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. William Byers of 5890 Essex in Romulus.

The Byers and their friends collected two truck-loads of clothes to send down to the persons suffering losses because of the hurricanes that have battered the southern coastline.

The clothes were brought to the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, according to the Rev. Myles Johnson, where the membership added their donations to make up the final shipment that was turned over to a Detroit-area organization that has been organizing aid for the hurricane victims.

Youngs have 2nd girl

A new member was added to the family of Romulus Public Information Officer Jay Young last week, as his wife, Linnea, gave birth to eight-pound Meghan Elizabeth at 5:40 a.m., Thursday, Sept. 13, 1979. The child is the Young's second daughter and second grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Young of Wayne, Michigan. The baby arrived only six days before the father's and grandmother's birthday, which would have seen three generations born on the same day, Sept. 19. The other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Robert Nelson, live in Chicago.

Street to be vacated

Sterling Street from Goddard Street to Bibbins Street will be vacated because of its future use in the Romulus senior citizens high-rise complex in the area.

Action to close up the thoroughfare came recently at the city council session.

According to Jay Young, city public information officer, plans have changed and the old Romulus Elementary School Building will not be torn down to make way for the high-rise. Instead, the new structure has been moved, he said, to keep the school building intact.

Gospel concert set

The Dave Thurston family will present a gospel concert at the Romulus Wesleyan Church, 37300 Goddard Rd., from 3 to 6 p.m.

Sunday, Sept. 23. Included in the concert will be solos, duets, trios, instrumental music and group singing.

Ostomy group to meet

The Ann Arbor Ostomy Association will meet Thursday, Sept. 20, at the Senior Citizens

Guild, 502 W. Huron, Ann Arbor, at 7:30 p.m.

St. Leo's to mark 90th

Former parishioners and students of St. Leo's Church and St. Leo's School who now live in the suburbs are invited to a 90th anniversary reception Saturday, Dec. 8 at the school in Detroit.

At 4:30 p.m. an anniversary mass will be held in the church followed by entertainment and refreshments in the church basement.

At the reception many of the nuns who taught at the school will be in attendance.

Since its founding at the dirt road intersection of Grand River and 15th Street, St. Leo's has stood as a landmark. Today, it has found a new role in the community and serves a variety of social needs, acting as a servant to the neighborhood in which it is located.

For additional information, call Sally Soderlund Ettinger at 464-2718 or Bridget Shiels Dionne at 884-5969.

Accused party store robber turns out to be kidnapper

An escape convict serving time for kidnapping and accused of robbing a Romulus party store earlier this year will be examined in 34th District Court Wednesday (today) before Judge Henry Zaborowski.

Billy Ray Flannery Jr., 44, of Ecorse, was remanded to the Wayne County Jail last week by Judge Zaborowski who refused bond. Flannery faces two counts of armed robbery and one of possession of a firearm in commission of a felony, said Det. Ed Lindberg of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Lindberg said Flannery and a companion on the night of May 28, 1979 went into a Quick-Pick party store where he threatened customers with a handgun, rifled the cash register and took money from the wallets of several customers. The store is located at 30795 Eureka Rd.

Witnesses at the scene followed the two men in their getaway car belonged to a patient at Northville State Hospital and had been stolen, the detective said.

Lindberg said on Aug. 8, Flannery was caught in the act of robbing a Southgate party store with a gun by local police officers and placed in custody.

After questioning by sheriff's detectives and officers from several area police departments, officers went to Monroe where Flannery was last living. There, they obtained a license plate on a car in front of Flannery's residence that was stolen from the vehicle used in the Romulus robbery, Lindberg said.

On Sept. 5, Flannery was picked out of a lineup by witnesses to the Quick-Pick store robbery in May. Five days later, he admitted robbing that store and six others in Detroit, Lincoln Park and Southgate, the detective said.

Further investigation disclosed that Flannery, who first gave police Billy Hall as his name, was wanted for kidnapping and served about half of a 25-year sentence at a federal prison.

Flannery was then placed in a treatment center in Detroit, much like a half-way house, where prisoners were dealt with under a honor system.

The convict decided to vacate the premises and did so on Aug. 7, 1978, Lindberg explained.

He said Flannery's partner has fled the state and is being tracked down by police authorities.

Can't find job

Society forgets crash victim; he exists on $319 a month

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

America is the "land of the free and home of the brave" and the wealthiest nation on earth, but all that doesn't matter to Dennis O'Connor as he struggles to survive on $316.90 doled out to him by the state of Michigan each month.

Left crippled and with part of his brain removed in an operation following a motor scooter accident, 32-year-old O'Connor is a familiar sight to Belleville residents as he pedals an adult tricycle throughout the city.

Aside from a couple of years doing full-time custodial work and such odd jobs as washing dishes and pumping gasoline, Dennis cannot find gainful employment to support himself. It seems that no one wants him.

Despite a portion of his brain removed by a neurosurgeon in 1965 and 77 days in a coma, he is surprisingly articulate, mentally alert and capable of carrying on a stimulating conversation. He definitely seemed able to perform white collar work on an average or above average level.

Back in 1965 just a few weeks before he was scheduled to graduate from Belleville High School, Dennis was out riding a motor scooter. Traveling north on Belleville Road, he turned right onto Tyler Road, but his scooter skidded in the loose gravel and he was thrown into a ditch on his head.

Dennis' recollection of many events before the accident is completely forgotten, wiped out as if by a blotter. However, he can remember other events and what has been told to him by friends and relatives after the operation at Wayne General Hospital in Westland. He remembers playing reserve football in high school, but cannot recollect playing on the varsity team.

He was told that the doctor who operated on him commented that if he lived, he would be a "vegetable" and probably would never walk or talk.

But, as Dennis relates today, "The good Lord had other ideas."

Although he wears a brace on his right leg from his ankle to his knee and his right side is partially paralyzed, Dennis can walk remarkably well, if somewhat haltingly. His speech is only slightly slow and he expresses himself quite well.

His accident may have brought one blessing. As a youngster in high school, Dennis recalls he had a bad temper. After his accident and operation, his temper flared more often and he lost more than one job as a dishwasher and custodian.

As Dennis states today, "I had a behavioral problem."

Oddly enough, he says, his temper now has improved and he no longer feels it is as serious as when he was a patient at Eloise, Ypsilanti State and University of Michigan hospitals.

While he was employed as a janitor at U of M Hospital, he attended Washtenaw Community College and earned a certificate while taking courses in medical technology, psychology and technical measurements.

Even before his tragic accident, Dennis had known grief and heartbreak. His mother died in 1949 when he was only three years old and his father passed on three years later.

Young Dennis was reared by his grandmother, Isabelle, and her husband, his step-grandfather, Frank Cebolski, of Van Buren Township. After his wreck, he lived with them again for less than a year.

His grandmother died in 1968, but Frank still lives in the township. Dennis says he enjoys visiting him occasionally and talking to him on the telephone.

Now living in a $16 a day room in Belleville, Dennis has few relatives left and none who can help him financially. An aunt takes him on errands in her car, including trips to the hospital for blood tests. But, he said, her husband is on sick leave and they cannot afford to give him financial aid.

A sister of his mother lives in Romulus, but she too is unable to render monetary help. Dennis has no sisters, and his only brother, Tom, deserted the U.S. Navy some years back. He has not heard from or about him for years, he said.

An uncle, his mother's brother, lives in the Waltz community, but he seldom hears from him nor is help offered.

Dennis said, "I would love to have a full-time job and work and get paid like everyone else. Most of all I would like to be able to take care of myself."

After talking with him for 45 minutes, it appears that Dennis is more than capable of looking out for himself and that his mental faculties are sharp enough to hold down a clerical job if he is given the opportunity.

Now in the prime of manhood, Dennis finds little to do to pass the time and often gets depressed on weekends. He doesn't like to read, so he hops on his adult tricycle and goes visiting.

Just north of Five Points, he stops at Phil Swan's locksmith shop and shoe repair and sales store. He said Phil lets him sweep up, run little errands and performs other jobs for which he is paid.

Another of his favorite stops is at Andrew's Pharmacy on Main Street in downtown Belleville where he chats with the help and whiles away the hours. But, his weekends are boring and he finds himself falling into moods of depression.

His landlady, although nice, is 86 years old and senile, and requires a woman to come over daily to look after her and to clean up after Dennis and three other roomers who live there. Should something happen to his landlady, he does not know where he will go.

His "disability pay" as he calls it was once only a little more than $100 a month. Although it now comes to $316.90, it is far too little for anyone in these inflation-ridden times to even exist upon.

Towards the end of the month, Dennis often finds himself running short on funds. Fortunately, Robert's Cafeteria carries him on a tab until his check comes in, he explains.

Next Oct. 17, Dennis will be 33 and he finds that the years are beginning to take their toll on him physically. At one time a few years back, he could walk fairly fast and got around very well. Today, too much exertion tires his legs quickly and he is forced to take "a lot of medication."

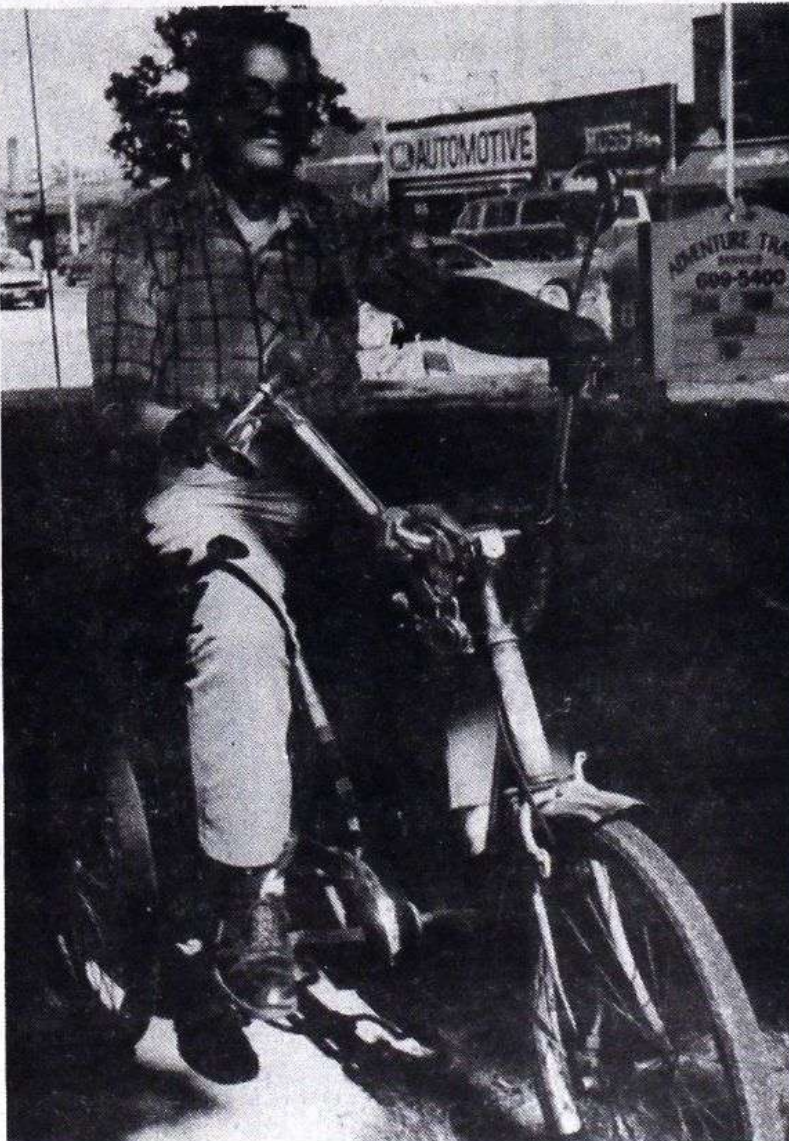

A good friend to Dennis has been the Belleville Lions Club, which gave him his current adult tricycle after his old one broke down due to his weight. At Christmas time, he said the Lions have given him clothes and have paid some of his outstanding medical bills.

Seated and drinking coffee at the Golden Boy restaurant in downtown Belleville, Dennis looks like any of a million other young American men. His 5'11" frame is a little pudgy, but his full head of dark hair would make him look even younger if it were not for the neat moustache he sports on his upper lip.

It's a funny world. Seated, Dennis could pass for the president of a company, an engineer, a businessman or a coach. Standing up, he is a nobody who cannot get a job.

Although it is evident that he needs help and plenty of it - a job, money, a decent place to live and companionship - not once during the interview did Dennis ask for or indicate he needed anything.

"The meek shall inherit the earth." If not today, perhaps someday!

This man needs a job

Dennis O'Connor is shown with his adult tricycle, his means of getting around in the city of Belleville. Crippled and with part of his brain gone after a tragic motor scooter crash 14 years ago, the 32-year-old city resident exists on a mere $316.90 per month because no one will give him a job. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

Great Pyrenees Club to hold fun match

The Great Pyrenees Club of Metropolitan Detroit will hold its annual fall fun match on Sunday, Sept. 30 in Sumpter Township. The match is open to the public to come and observe, and anyone owning a Great Pyrenees is urged to bring their dog and join in the fun. There will be no admission charge.

The Great Pyrenees, often referred to as "the most beautiful dog in the world," is a native of the Pyrenees Mountains which lie between France and Spain. The strikingly majestic mountain dogs, even today, guard sheep from wolves, coyotes and other animals high on the mountain slopes.

The Great Pyrenees is also one of the six breeds being studied by Hampshire College's livestock guarding dog project, and also part of a number of successful U.S. Government and other livestock guarding programs.

The fun match, or "dog show for fun," will include competition for both sexes for general conformation, obedience as well as judging for best head, best bone and other fun classes. The match will be judged by George Carlton, an AKC provisional judge for 10 working breeds, including the Great Pyrenees.

Trophies will range from stained glass plaques to leather items. Other attractions will include a weight pulling demonstration given by the Alaskan Malamute Club of Greater Detroit.

The fun begins at 2 p.m. at 10583 Willow Rd. For more information call 461-1943.

WCISD superintendent appointed to school financing advisory panel

President Jimmy Carter has named Dr. William Simmons, superintendent of the Wayne County Intermediate School District, as one of 15 members of the Advisory Panel on Financing Elementary and Secondary Education. The panel will consider all aspects of financing America's public and private schools during the next 10 years.

Congress established the advisory panel in the Education Amendments of 1978 and specified it would start its investigation of school support this year. Dr. Simmons, who is the only Michigander and the only representative of an intermediate district on the panel, was nominated for the honor by Congressman William D. Ford of the 15th Congressional District, a member of the House Committee on Labor and Education.

The charge to the panel directs the 15 members to analyze the trends, as well as the problems that affect the support of schools and to make recommendations for improving the efficiency and equity of both state and federal systems for raising school revenues.

The panel also is directed to investigate means for equalizing the support for schools between states, within a state and even within local school districts. It is to recommend changes in federal programs, or new federal programs, to promote greater equalization in the disbursement of funds. An analysis is to be made of the capacity of the present financing system to adequately support schools.

"The panel has received a very broad assignment, one that covers every aspect of school finance," Dr. Simmons said. "It will be a tremendous undertaking, and it is a real honor to be chosen to serve the nation's school in this way. Hopefully, we can identify some means of assuring that every child in this country will have the best possible education."

Before being named Wayne County superintendent in 1972, Dr. Simmons served as superintendent of the Romulus Community Schools and as deputy superintendent for State and Federal Affairs for the Detroit Public Schools. He has an honorary doctorate from Eastern Michigan University, his alma mater, and has received the Educator of the Year Award of the College of Education of Wayne State University, where he earned his doctorate.

DR. WILLIAM SIMMONS

Thank You

My sincere thanks and appreciation to all of you who devoted their time and energy to support and vote for me during the recent primary in Romulus. Thank you. But though the battle is won, the war isn't. I will need your continuous support for City Council in November when it really counts.

What is the principle behind the sound production of most musical instruments? Vibration. Most instruments involve the plucking, rubbing, banging, or blowing on a surface causing it to shake and make a sound. So, we pluck guitar strings or rub one string against another with a violin. We bang on a tight surface for drums or blow on a reed in wind instruments. We let air reverberate around the insides of brass instruments. So, sound depends on vibrations. Even talking vibrations are created. Place your fingers on someone's throat as they talk. Your fingers will hear the music of their words.

We feature a full line of Lowry organs at DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne, Romulus, 941-8484 that offer big and beautiful sounds, instrumental realism, tonal variety and special effects. 'For people'

"Homes for People" got a boost from the Wayne-Westland Ministerial Association and the congregations of its member clergymen. The support came in the form of a check that will buy a community education film for the Northville Residential Center's placement unit, which is working to gain community acceptance of group homes for the retarded in the community. Denise Horvath (left) is an education coordinator who speaks to area civic, church and service groups to tell citizens of the efforts of Northville Training Center to place the developmentally disabled back in the community. After a talk she gave the ministerial association, the members went to their congregations for funds to buy her an educational film. The check was turned over to Ms. Horvath recently by The Rev. Richard Schultz, pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church. — ANP photo.

She dispels myths, creates positive attitudes about homes for retarded

Her "territory" is the western half of Wayne County, from Plymouth to Sumpter Township, from Canton Township to Inkster, and every community in between. And her job is equally as monumental — to educate the communities, dispel myths and create positive attitudes about placement of retarded individuals back into the community to live a "normal" residential life.

Denise Horvath is education coordinator for the placement unit of Northville Residential Training Center. She contacts and speaks to church groups, service clubs, local government units, and does the "advance work" of community education so that the Department of Mental Health will gain acceptance of its goal to place developmentally disabled individuals in group homes, or in foster homes.

She discusses with these area groups the fundamental rights of the retarded, which are no different than the rights of anyone else. And one of those rights is to live in the community, in the least restrictive environment the person can handle.

With court orders being handed out to reduce the population of such institutions as the Northville Center and the Plymouth Center for Human Development, the effort to place retarded persons in community homes is increasing.

Although Ms. Horvath's unit has yet to actually open a single home in her Western Wayne County area — there have been several sites selected, that fell through for one reason or another — it's just a matter of time before a group home does open. Communities are no longer legally allowed to restrict group homes from residential neighborhoods, but often times neighbors are concerned, and opposed to, group homes nearby. Ms. Horvath said that opposition most often is based on preconceived notions about (Continued on Page A-12)

YOU SHOULD SEEK CHIROPRACTIC CARE

Almost every one of us suffers from a headache sooner or later. Many suffer regularly from this depressing symptom. The neck and upper portion of the spine can be considered one of the prime suspects in many cases of recurrent headaches. The Doctor of Chiropractic's experience has taught him that headaches that persist over long periods of time, occurring and disappearing only to occur again when least expected, are related to traceable causes. One such cause is abnormal positioning or an abnormal mobility of one or several vertebrae (spinal segments) in the upper neck.

The Doctor of Chiropractic is trained to offer specialized care in the effective treatment or recurrent headaches.

Treatment has often proven effective in giving the patient relief from the pain and discomfort of the recurrent headache.

Henny Youngman closes out YWCA Town Hall series

Henny Youngman, who has been crowned by Walter Winchell as "The King of One-Liners", will appear at the YWCA of Western Wayne County's Town Hall on Oct. 17 at the Fairlane Manor in Dearborn. After nearly a half century on the comic circuit, Youngman still is going strong as he peddles his gags, plays his fiddle and zings his one-liners to his audiences. He continues to play 200 one-night stands a year 40 years after his "crowning". Town Hallers will convene on Oct. 17 for a cash bar reception at 11 a.m. The luncheon will be served at 12 noon, with Youngman to follow. Tickets cost $12 each and may be purchased by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope, with check made payable to the YWCA, to the Y at 26279 Michigan Avenue, Inkster 48141. According to co-chairpersons

Paula Boase of Taylor and Barbara Kent of Dearborn Heights, there will be advanced reserved seating. Up to 10 persons per table will be assigned on receipt on a first come-first served basis. Requests to be seated with friends can be filled, if all are submitted together.

Youngman's appearance concludes the 1979 YWCA Town Hall season, the third year the that Y has brought Town Hall to the area. The 1980 season will include syndicated columnist Sydney Harris on March 12 and Marshall Shearer, doctor of psychiatry, and Marquerite Sheare, doctor of sexual dysfunction, on Oct. 29. Area residents involved in the YWCA's Town Hall program include Mary Hall, Violet Forbush and Marie Bright of Inkster, Carol Steiner of Romulus and Marjorie Covert of Westland.

Absent: None. Also present Attorney James, Engineers Wilhelm and Levine, Secretary Dudick and approximately 100 interested citizens.

Motion Hall, support Domen to approve the Minutes of the August 28, 1979 Regular Township Board Meeting as corrected. CARRIED.

Correction to the Minutes of August 28, 1979 as follows: Vote on the Motion Hall, support Welty to approve the request of Officer Horste to attend Forensic Pathology Seminar and Officer Bernard to attend Firearms Instructor School: Ayes; Welty, Hall, Mussehl and Cullin. Nays; Domen, Craven and Maton.

Motion Domen, support Welty to approve the Minutes of the August 28, 1979 Annual Cemetery Meeting as corrected. CARRIED.

Correction to the Minutes of the Annual Cemetery Meeting as follows: Budget amount for Denton Cemetery for the coming year $1000.

ADJUDICATION: Mr. Donald Hill of 46080 Chatsworth asked the Board if they are aware of the petition signed by the residents of the Quirk Subdivision regarding the terrible condition of the roads in this Subdivision.

Clerk Craven addressed Mr. Hill stating that she had received a copy of the petition and had forwarded copies of it to the Wayne County Road Commission and Commissioner Bill Joyner. These are County Roads and the solution to the problem lies with the County.

Supervisor Cullin stated that the Township would ask Wayne County to take care of this problem as they have asked many times in the past but she could not answer for the County and at this time would have to wait and see what the response to the petition would be.

J. D. Harman of 6410 Haggerty Road asked the Board to reconsider the decision of the Board of Appeals directing him to remove hogs from his property. Mr. Harman stated that his deed states farming.

Supervisor Cullin explained to Mr. Harman that his property is zoned Residential and if the Board of Appeals has rejected his pleas the only recourse he has is to petition the Circuit Court. The Township Board cannot overrule the Board of Appeals decision.

Trustee Welty stated that he is a member of the Board of Appeals and Mr. Harman does not have just one hog on his property, he has 55 of them on 4.69 acres. Neighbors were complaining that the hogs were running loose and these neighbors came to the Board of Appeals meeting to voice those complaints.

Mr. Harman complained that the people who were at the meeting were not close neighbors and those neighbors that were close were not notified of the meeting.

Supervisor Cullin said she could check on who was notified of the meeting for Mr. Harman but no other action could be taken on this problem by this Board.

Supervisor Cullin deferred comments on the Denton Road Rezoning until that item is reached on the Agenda.

Hearing no other citizen wishing to speak the audience portion of the meeting was closed.

Motion Hall, support Maton to accept the resignation of Debbie Marshall as Secretary to the Lake Commission. CARRIED.

Motion Welty, support Craven to appoint Betty Hankins as the Secretary to the Lake Commission. CARRIED.

Motion Hall, support Welty to table the Correspondence from the Wayne County Road Commission dealing with new procedures for closing roads for parades, celebrations and festivals until it is reviewed by the Attorney. CARRIED.

Motion York, support Craven to accept the resignation of Daryl Robson from the Planning Commission at the end of his term as Chairman and send him a letter of gratitude for his services. CARRIED.

Supervisor Cullin asked the Board and the Audience if they had any names to submit, or they wished to be on a Commission please contact her office as appointments are made to the Commissions at various times throughout the year and interested citizens are always welcome.

Motion Domen, support Welty to approve sending the Dog Warden to the Michigan Association of Animal Control Officers 19th Annual In-Training Conference in Flint, Michigan. CARRIED. Motion Maton, support Craven to approve the Joint Venture Contract for the Dam Project between Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May; O'Neal Construction; and Van Buren Township as presented. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Maton to approve the Resolution designating the Project Area, and the Project District Area for the Edward Canton Project. (Edison Building). CARRIED.

The Project District Area now includes the three homes in the area.

Motion Hall, support Craven to approve the expenditure of approximately $3000 for a 6" gravel base for the Parking Lot adjacent to the Township Hall as recommended by the Engineers. CARRIED.

Approximately one half of the cost of the gravel base will be covered by the original 1977 Block Grant, the additional monies to come from the surplus of the CDBG Special Needs program.

Motion Domen, support Welty to approve sending John Cottrill, Water Dept. Head to the American Water Works Association Convention in Traverse City from September 24th thru 26th. CARRIED.

John Raines, President of OMNICON of Michigan, made a presentation to the Board regarding cable T.V. He is requesting a franchise to operate this system in Van Buren Township. The franchise would grant them the right to use streets, alleys and right of ways to provide this service to the community.

Mr. Raines explained the services that could be provided by a system capable of 2 way transmission, such as, burglar alarm, fire alarm and medical alert systems.

Supervisor Cullin asked how far in the future would it be for the 2 way services to become available.

Mr. Raines indicated that it would be approximately 3 to 4 years.

Supervisor Cullin thanked Mr. Raines for his presentation and indicated to him that the Board would be reviewing his company and other Cable T.V. companies before any decisions are made.

Clerk Craven stated that phone calls have been received by her office indicating an interest in cable T.V. for Van Buren Township.

Motion Maton, support York to approve the request of Stan Price Building Department Head to attend the Building Officials Conference of Michigan in Traverse City from October 3 thru 5. CARRIED.

Motion Hall, support Maton to approve the re-zoning for Prestige Mobile Home Sales from R1B (Residential) to C-2 (Extensive Highway Business) as recommended by the Township Planning Commission. Roll Call Vote: Ayes; Craven, York, Maton, Domen, Hall, Welty and Cullin. Nays: None. CARRIED.

Motion Maton, support Welty to deny the re-zoning request of Mr. Roney (Section 1 Corner of Van Born and Hannan Rd.) from R-1C (Residential) to M-2 (General Industrial) as recommended by the Township Planning Commission. Roll Call Vote: Ayes; Craven, York, Maton, Domen, Hall, Welty and Cullin. Nays: None. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Craven to deny re-zoning of 3.7 acres on Denton Road between Beckley and Beck Road (Volk Property) from R1B (Residential) to R-M (Multiple). Roll Call Vote: Ayes; Craven, York, Maton, Domen, Hall, Welty and Cullin. Nays: None. CARRIED.

Citizen in audience asked Supervisor if there was any way to make this denial permanent as the property owners in this area are faced with this request for re-zoning periodically.

Supervisor Cullin stated that it was not possible. Any Property owner has a right to request re-zoning before the Planning Commission. The Attorney was directed to research the amount of time that must elapse before a denied request can be brought up again.

Motion York, support Maton to approve the Resolution of Approval of Millage to be levied in Van Buren Township as presented. CARRIED.

Discussion was held regarding the level of water in Belleville Lake. Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May recommend that a normal water surface elevation of 651.5 ft. be maintained from April 15th to November 1. From November 1 to April 15th the level should be lowered 8-12 inches, to lessen ice damage to shoreline structures.

Trustee Domen asked Mr. Christie if the Dam Project could be completed more efficiently and quickly if the Lake Level would be lowered. Mr. Christie replied that for the Project, he would like to see the Lake lowered 12 feet.

Opinions were voiced both pro and con regarding lowering the Lake level the 12 feet that the Engineering Firm suggested to expedite the Dam Project.

Supervisor Cullin asked Mr. Christie to give the Board a schedule of when he would think it best to lower the lake and how long it would be necessary to keep it down so they could take action on this matter at the next Board Meeting, being sure to allow enough time to notify the public of any such action so everyone will know when and for how long the Lake will be lowered.

Motion Hall, support Welty to table any action on the Lake Level. CARRIED.

Auditor Ronald Traskos made a presentation to the Board regarding an ordinance to establish a Budget Stabilization Fund. This fund would be for any surplus monies at the end of a Budget year that could be put aside to cover future deficits that may occur due to unforeseen occurrences.

Motion Hall, support Domen to approve Budget Stabilization Ordinance as presented by Auditor Traskos. CARRIED.

Motion Welty, support York to approve the request of Stephanie Soja, Administrative Assistant to the Supervisor, to attend a 3 day course for Assessing Personnel at the University of Michigan. CARRIED.

Motion Hall, support York to adopt the Resolution in opposition to House Bill No. 4572 which would require the Township Treasurer to distribute the funds collected every 10 days. CARRIED.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP REGULAR BOARD MEETING MINUTES September 11, 1979

Motion Welty, support Domen to approve the request of Firemen Memering and Champagne to attend EMT classes as recommended by the Public Safety Commission. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Welty to increase the Sewer Disposal charge from 75 percent of the total water bill to 81 percent to cover the cost increase for this service to the Township by the Downriver Sanitary Sewer District. CARRIED.

The 6 percent increase is a cost recovery and any administrative overhead will be absorbed by the Township, as explained by the Auditor and the Engineer.

Discussion was held regarding a Van Buren Township - City of Romulus; Hannan Road Water Agreement. Final figures on the cost of this project are not complete at this time but the division of cost would be that General Motors would pay one half of the cost and the remaining one half would be split by Van Buren Township and the City of Romulus.

Motion Hall, support Maton to approve the concept of the Joint Water Agreement for Van Buren Township and the City of Romulus for Hannan Road if the cost is not prohibitive. CARRIED.

Motion Craven, support Hall to approve the Engineers to design the extension of the Tyler Road watermain and emergency cross over at Huron River Drive. CARRIED.

Motion Maton, support Craven to use the additional amount of funds from the CDBG program as follows: $2500 for the Parking Lot extras, $500 for updating of Fire Station No. 3 and the remainder of the $27,927 for Administrative Costs related to the Dam Project. CARRIED.

Motion Craven, support Maton to direct the Auditor and the Water Department Head to set a procedure to determine a surcharge to be placed on any bill received from Wayne County plus a 10 percent administrative fee for the Non-Residential Pollution Surveillance Program and return a recommendation to the Board. CARRIED.

Engineer Levine reported on this meeting with Commissioner Youngblood regarding rear yard drain maintenance. According to a Drain Act, Chapter 20 the Drain Commissioner can assess $800 a mile for maintenance of Drains. If Van Buren Township would guarantee any costs over and above the $800 per mile that the Drain Commissioner can assess Mr. Youngblood, upon being petitioned to do so by the Township, would maintain the drains up to the $800 limit he could assess the property owners.

At present because of this problem of responsibility for the drains the Wayne County Road Commission will not sign the necessary papers for the completion of the Terra Del Lago Subdivision.

Supervisor Cullin stated that the Township has no business in the drain business, we have no authority for it and no money for it. The Township does not do inspections or approval of drain, this is done by the Wayne County Road Commission. The responsibility should be in the hands of those that inspect and approve. If the Township at this time should take this responsibility, even on a partial basis, the result could be total responsibility which could result in financial disaster. No one can estimate what costs over a long period of time would be for these drains.

Motion Hall, support Welty to have the Township Attorney research our legal position regarding drains and the possibility of changing the policy, that the Drain Commission has at this time. CARRIED.

Engineer Levine will return to the Drain Commissioner and research other methods for the solution of this problem, such as direct contact for the excess monies between the Drain Commission and the individual property owners.

Motion Hall, support Welty to receive and file the Police Department Report, Fire Department No. 1 and No. 2 Reports, Dog Warden Report and the Budgetary Report. CARRIED.

Motion Domen, support Maton to approve the Water & Sewer Department and General Fund Voucher List as presented plus the additional sheet received. CARRIED.

Clerk Craven announced that the Lemontree Condominiums have requested to erect Sea Walls and if the Board has no objections a hold harmless agreement will be entered into with them for this purpose.

Supervisor Cullin announced the Retirement Party for Joe Rafalski will be held October 27 and tickets are $12.50 a person. Tickets are available from her office, Trustee Welty of Trustee Domen. Dinner - Music - and Set-ups plus a Gift for Officer Rafalski are included in the ticket price.

Motion Domen, support Craven to adjourn. CARRIED.

Meeting adjourned at 10:15 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,
Doreen Craven, Clerk

'Greatest Show on Earth' comes to Cobo Oct. 9-21

TITO GAONA

When the Greatest Show on Earth arrives at the Cobo Arena to run from Oct. 9 through Oct. 21, 1979, not only will it bring international circus stars from around the globe, the largest traveling menagerie in the world, and enough entertainment to fill 108 years of delight, but it will also bring one of the finest soccer teams in this country, the Ringling Tigers.

The roster of players reads like a miniature United Nations, with participants from every country, from Peru to Poland, and from every field of circus endeavor, from concessionaire to bareback rider.

The Captain of the team is aerialist superstar Tito Gaona, proclaimed by "Sports Illustrated" to be the "world's finest athlete," and the only person in existence to have attempted and performed a quadruple somersault on the flying trapeze. Much of the growth and success of the soccer team must be attributed to Mexican-born Tito's effort.

An enthusiastic supporter of the game, his avid interest has brought him in contact with the "greats" of soccer, including the legendary Pele and the New York Cosmos. Franz Beckenbauer.

"When I first joined the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus in 1967, I had just come from Sweden where I had been performing in a circus. There everyone relaxes by playing soccer. Unfortunately," Tito says, "the game was almost unheard of in America and, although the other Europeans in the show knew the game, we had no one to play."

Finally, the Tigers were able to get a game together with a Greek team in Boston in 1968, after which Tito immediately rushed out and bought uniforms for his team. Then, with dedicated effort, he urged young people, through his media interviews, to investigate the game, and then challenge the circus team the next year. His strategy worked like a charm, and now, The Greatest Show on Earth's soccer team has a game date in almost every city the circus plays.

The team practices on days off and whenever there is time between shows.

"We are all very serious about the game," says Tito, whose family is well represented on the field with brother Armando and catcher cousin Lalo Murillo.

In games with teams that range from small amateur teams to the professionals (Washington Diplomats, the Los Angeles All-Star Team, the Cosmos), the Circus sportsmen, with their fancy footwork on the field, are treated with respect and genuine awe and represent the finest in athletic prowess. In the arena and on the playing field, they are living proof that The Greatest Show on Earth is the home of champions.

Tickets are available at the Cobo Arena Box Office, Hudson's and Olympia Travel in Birmingham. Ticket prices are $7, $6.50, $5.50 and $4.50.

Sheppard's 'Buried Child' open Attic Theatre season

In keeping with its commitment to original plays, uncommon playwrights and classic theatre performed in a new light, the Attic Theatre has announced that the 1979-80 season will open with Sam Shepard's Pulitzer Prize-winning play "Buried Child".

"Buried Child," which recently enjoyed a long run at New York's Circle Repertory Company, is an experimental play which won Shepard the 1979 Pulitzer Prize. It is a controversial drama that examines, in often pathetically comic relationships, the deterioration of the American family. Three generations of a midwestern farm family have the strangest reunion in all of contemporary drama. The play will be presented at the Attic Theatre from Oct. 19-Dec. 1, 1979.

Following will be "A Midsummer Night's Dream," one of Shakespeare's most popular comedies, done Attic-style. Ron Martell will direct the production. After the Dec. 7 through Jan. 19 run, this show will be available for touring in January and February. From Jan. 25 through Feb. 29,

"The Oldest Living Graduate," by Preston Jones, will be presented. From Jones' "A Texas Trilogy," the play is a moving and humorous study of a lovably cantankerous old man who will resist to his dying breath a wheeler-dealer son's money making schemes and the compromises in values they represent.

From Stuart Gordon, Wm. J. Norris and John Ostrander, three playwrights of Chicago's Organic Theatre Company, "Bloody Bess: A Tale of Piracy and Revenge" will be presented March 7 through April 26. A swashbuckling tale of plunder on the high seas—30s movie style—"Bloody Bess" will be the 1980 Attic Theatre Performing Arts Festival, from 1-25, with Pat Paulsen tentatively scheduled to star in "Waiting for Godot."

The world premiere of a new Michigan play, selected from the monthly reader's theatre series "New Playwright's Forum," will run May 30 through July 5. A Commedia dell'Arte production, in the manner of last year's "The Emperor of the Moon," will be presented July 11 through Aug. 16.

Under Consideration are Goldoni's "The Servant of Two Masters" and Gozzi's "The King Stag." Under consideration for the final show of the season, Aug. 22 through Sept. 26, are "Getting Out," by Marsha Norman; "Lunch Girls" by Leigh Curran and a play by Bertolt Brecht.

Subscription prices are $25 for Thursday and Sunday 8 p.m. performances and $30 for Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 6 p.m. for the first four weeks of each production. In addition to seeing seven shows for the price of five, subscribers receive discounts on tickets to the New Playwright's Forum, Attic Midnight Theatre productions and the 1980 Attic Theatre Performing Arts Festival.

For further information and a season brochure, call the Attic at 963-7789, or visit the box office at 525 E. Lafayette, open from 2-8 p.m. seven days a week.

Gem and mineral show set for Oct. 12-14 at Armory

The Michigan Mineralogical Society will again be presenting the Greater Detroit Gem and Mineral Show Oct. 12-14 at the Detroit Light Guard Armory, located on Eight Mile and Ryan roads.

This 16th yearly exhibition is internationally recognized and features displays from famous museums, universities and private collections from the United States and Canada.

The mineral, fossil, gem and jewelry exhibits are from worldwide locations. In addition, working demonstrations will feature masters at work polishing rubies and sapphires, gem faceting, Petosky stone polishing and gem tumbling to name a few.

"Gold specimens" also will be featured this year.

An important function of the Greater Detroit Gem and Mineral Show is making available to the general public fascinating displays of some of the earth's wonders.

On Oct. 12, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., the Detroit show will be open only for students, teachers and chaperones. Schools in the Detroit metropolitan area are invited to attend the show by pre-registering their classes for a 2-hour block of time on this day. Admission is by pre-registration only. A small fee, $1 per class, is required to help defray the postage costs for registration materials.

There is no admission charge for students in a class group and accompanied by teachers and chaperones. Each teacher who registers to bring her or his class for the school tours day receives a packet of materials relating to earth sciences. The packet is composed of pamphlets, charts and articles, many from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. These give information on geology, rocks, minerals, fossils and other topics. Teachers who would like to attend the Greater Detroit Gem and Mineral Show with their class may contact the School Tours Chairman, Greater Detroit and Mineral Show, 1216 Boyd, Troy 48064, or call 528-3194 evenings or weekends. Deadline for reservations is Sept. 28.

For the general public admission to the show is from 6 to 10 p.m. Oct. 12, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Oct. 13 and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Oct. 14. Tickets will cost $2 for adults and 50 cents for children 15 years and under. A 3-day show pass is available for $5.

Moscow Fair

How long must one bang one's head against the wall before the realization comes that it hurts?

How long must the U.S. continue to pretend that the Soviets are just plain folk, before we realize they are not, at least the Soviet government is not.

Two weeks ago, The Association of American Booksellers joined with colleagues from around the world to meet in Moscow for the annual World Book Fair.

Who selected Moscow, or even why that city was chosen at all for this get-together remains a valid question, given the Soviet's well-documented disdain for freedom of any type, let alone freedom of speech or of the press. But for whatever reason, Moscow was selected, and for whatever reason, the Russians again lived up to their reputation, and decided they could not allow several books to be displayed at the fair, lest they corrupt the country.

That Moscow and its officials censored the Book Fair's collection of material, should have come as no surprise.

That Moscow's censorship was disorganized and inefficient, should have come as no surprise.

But that the world's booksellers chose Moscow in the first place is a surprise.

Perhaps the purveyors of the written word simply wanted to make a point. The point being that despite its protestations to be contrary, Moscow and Russian officials still fear the dissemination of unlimited dialogue.

If the booksellers wanted to make a point, they did. At the cost of unrestricted dialogue between the authors of the world, the book fair once again showed the world what the real Russian philosophy looks like.

If the Fair had hoped for unrestricted access to the world's markets in Moscow, they failed.

And they failed to even attract substantial support in opposition to the treatment they received at the hands of the Russians.

We can't help but wonder where the Jane Fondas, Tom Fondas, Jerry Browns, and Ralph Naders were during this absurd demonstration of Russian paranoia.

But then again, one must choose one's causes carefully, mustn't one?

Labor Day

A good idea by any other name.....

Last week, while perusing the editorial pages of one of our metro dailies, I came across a piece on summer, tourists, and Labor Day.

The writer of that opinion, apparently an outdoor type, objected to the briefness of that period sandwiched between spring and autumn, called summer.

It was his opinion that summer is artificially short due to correctable considerations, and those corrections should be undertaken quickly.

For many reasons, not the least of which is the Michigan tourist business, it was suggested that Labor Day be moved back in the month of September to the third Monday rather than the first.

By doing so, the writer concluded that summer would be extended another three weeks, businesses would have another three weeks for spreading employee vacations, the tourist business would gain an additional three weeks of revenue, and that all too short period in Michigan called summer, would hang around just a little longer.

We think this is a good idea whose time has come.

What do you think?

Why not drop us a line and give us your opinion.

Editor's log

Dear Senator Levin:

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

The following column was first published on March 15 of this year.

For reasons he explains, Senator Levin's response was delayed. Because of that delay, this column is reprinted to provide the basis for his reply which is printed below. ED.

Dear Senator:

Congratulation on your election to the U.S. Senate.

I have never written to you before, but I have addressed many of my comments and concerns to other elected officials who have gone before. Either they never received my letters, or their franking budget had been exceeded (if that is possible), and they were unable to reply.

Now, perhaps I should explain that I do not consider myself a chronic complainer. I do on occasion assume a rather rigid position on some subjects of importance, but, by-and-large, I am fair beyond reasonable expectations.

Like most Americans, I only reluctantly make the decision to write my elected representative. I have been told on more than one occasion that "under our representative form of government, I elect someone to represent me, not someone to mirror my opinion."

While I do not agree with that premise entirely, I am outnumbered and must retire on that point in the face of your overwhelming advantage. But to the point.

At a time when most Americans are in the process of again tightening their belts to deal with the latest assault on their pocketbooks by both inflation and Washington spending, an article appeared in one of the Metro papers.

That article chronicled the efforts of your colleagues in the pursuit of bolstering the morale of the American people in the face of bad economic news.

In the face of those nasty unpatriotic rumors of impending recession, our elected members of Congress have once again demonstrated that "there is nothing to fear but fear itself."

To prove the stability of our government and the capacity of our government printing presses, you have provided yourselves with an impressive list of regal 'perks' which must dispell any concern over our economy.

You and your colleagues have provided yourselves with personal airline ticket offices, post offices, dining rooms, coffee shops, doctor's offices, recording studio, railroad ticket office, credit union, barber shops, gymnasiums (including a ladies-only facility), your own caterers, carry-out food service, a staff club, personal photographers, chaplains, car washes, tobacco shops, family dining room with bath and phone, and under construction is a new $600,000 dining room, $350,000 gymnasium, $1-million press room and retail liquor business. To make it all run, you have on staff plumbers, painters, electricians, air-conditioning repairmen, computer technicians, typewriter repairmen, engineers, sheet metal workers, elevator repairmen, cooks, dishwashers, garage attendants, librarians and police.

Since no reasonable person could conclude that you would have done all that for yourselves, if indeed our country faced economic hardships, it is obvious that all of us are in good shape financially, regardless of how it looks.

But this is my problem. I have been unable, in spite of my best efforts, to live up to your example.

My Vic Tanny card has expired and I cannot afford to renew it. I haven't been to a barber in months, I can't afford airline, train or even party tickets. My last photograph didn't turn out, my tobacco is dry, my credit union account is bust, and I haven't had a catered meal in weeks. My typewriter is br+k+n, my plumbing is leaking, my electrical is shorted, and my personal engineer took a leave of absence.

What am I doing wrong, Senator?

Now, I realize that you are a busy man and probably won't have the time (or funds) to answer this letter, and that is all right. But, if you get a chance, would you see if you could arrange for a guest pass at your sauna and a ticket for a meal?

You probably wouldn't believe it, but it's a jungle out here.

P.S. I agree with you that a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget is un-American. Who needs it anyway?

From your lawmakers

Dear Editor Fassett:

By CARL LEVIN
U.S. Senator

Editor:

Thank you for the letter of congratulations (?) that appeared in your paper last spring.

The letter has finally made its way to my desk from the postal service, my mail room, my assistant press secretary, my press secretary, my assistant press secretary again, my chief assistant, my personal secretary and back through all of them several times. It's bad enough that I have to fight the Washington bureaucracy outside of my office. Why do I have to fight it in my office?

I also thank you for letting me know about all the perks that U.S. Senators have.

At the risk of sounding defensive, I want to point out that I was not here when members of the Senate voted themselves such luxuries. But now that I am here, I just wish I could take advantage of them.

You've heard about the seniority system, haven't you? How many perks do you think I can take advantage of being 96th out of 100 on the seniority list?

You know your colleagues are trying to tell you something when they give you and a staff of 28, an office that would make sardines claustrophobic.

You learn about the seniority system fast when you're told by an older senator to go to the end of the line in the men's room. And how do you think it feels to have to hand out the towels in the exclusive Senator locker room behind the exclusive Senate gym? Not too exclusive.

I appreciate, Mr. Fassett, all of your hardships such as your broken typewriter and expired Vic Tanny card. But please appreciate my hardships, too.

For instance, in Detroit we owned a beautiful three-story house with four bedrooms and three baths, all worth $50,000. For the same amount in Washington, I would have had a basement with three cots and hot and cold running roaches in the outhouse.

And to make matters worse, when I voted against lifting the extra-income restriction on senators, my wife not only cut back my allowance — she made me sleep in the outhouse.

All kidding aside, we are working hard here in the Senate. Most senators serve on three committees and about nine subcommittees — most of which are meeting during sessions on the Senate. Consequently, a senator is constantly rushing from committee meetings to the Senate floor.

There are no set hours for meals and usually sessions and committee meetings go right through the lunch hour, so it isn't unusual to see us eating on the run instead of dining in the middle of the afternoon.

Our offices get hundreds of phone calls each day and many more hundreds of pieces of mail. We also get numerous visitors wishing to meet their senators in person.

So although it would seem that we lead leisurely lives, enjoying our gymnasiums and shops, the time constraints placed upon us are very real. We are often expected to be in two or three places at once.

We also must maintain contact with our home states and stay in tune with our constituents, so visits back home are often packed with as many events as in Washington.

I am trying to point out that you have a legitimate claim about senators having access to all of the things you mentioned in your column. The perks are here. But it is not quite the way you painted it, tongue-in-cheek or not.

Personally, I have been busy with many things: the Panama Canal implementation bill, SALT II hearings. I recently introduced a synthetic fuel bill to try to start the country moving toward the use of synthetics instead of oil. I have also held hearings on toxic waste problems in Michigan.

You closed your letter by saying that I was probably too busy or could not afford to write back. You also asked if I could arrange for a guest pass in the Senate sauna and a free meal. Well, I hope I have restored your faith in politicians by taking the time (finally) to write back (you said no other politician has returned your letters before.)

I don't know if I can get you into the Senate sauna unless you pretend to be a senator by launching into oratory at the drop of a hat, but you are more than welcome to share my press secretary's lunch. Be forewarned, however. With what I pay him, he brown bags it.

P.S. Please send 15 cents to cover the cost of postage. We all have to bite the bullet, you know.

Reserves commend area employers

Editor:

As Commander of 300th Military Police Command, a five-state Army Reserve command headquarters in Livonia, I'd like to express my personal appreciation to all the employers who make it easier for our part-time soldiers to participate in Reserve training. In doing so, I'm sure I speak for all National Guard and Reserve Commanders.

This is a particularly appropriate time for such thanks because September has been proclaimed National Employer Appreciation Month by the National Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve. Through the efforts of this committee of prominent citizens, over 350,000 American employers have signed statements of support pledging to facilitate worker participation in Reserve training. Many employers voluntarily go well beyond the minimum job protection rights guaranteed to Reservists by law.

Employers have learned that Reservists make good workers, whose military training gives them skills, self-discipline, maturity, a sense of responsibility and an ability to lead (and follow) which carry over into their civilian life and work.

Moreover, what greater contribution can an employee make to his company than to spend part of his spare time defending the freedom that makes our great free-enterprise economy possible? And at a cost to the taxpayer of only about one-fifth what a full-time soldier costs!

Few Americans realize how important the Guard and Reserve are today. More than ever before, they are an integral part of our "Total Army", providing half the combat forces and about two-thirds of the support structure that would be available in a national emergency. Many Guard and Reserve units are programmed to deploy within days in such an emergency.

Yet, these crucial Guard and Reserve forces have not shared the relative recruiting success of the Active Army in the all-volunteer age. Today the Army's Reserve Components suffer from severe manpower shortages.

To everyone who helps fill that potentially dangerous gap in our defenses — the part-time soldiers themselves and the employers and families who ungrudgingly accept the Army's heavy demands on Reservists' free time — the American people owe a debt of gratitude.

Korean pen pals

Editor:

It is my great pleasure to write to you. I hope you will accept my appeal for overseas pen pals for our students.

I am an English teacher in a high school in Seoul, Korea.

This school has about 2,500 students of both sexes. I am eagerly seeking foreign students who want to correspond with our students.

There are many Korean students who want to exchange letters and friendship with foreign pen friends, and they frequently request me to let them have foreign pen friends.

Throughout my foreign language teaching career, I've noticed this would help not only their English and emotional life, but also expand their knowledge of foreign lands. This would also promote world wide friendship and mutual relationship as well as serving as a true foundation of world peace.

I feel it is necessary to publish this simple request among the boys and girls of the world, therefore, I courteously request you to run this letter in a corner of your valuable paper.

The only information I need of a student is his or hers' name, address, sex, age, hobbies and picture if possible. I expect to receive many letters from your readers wishing to correspond with our students.

I will appreciate it very much if you let me have the chance to do this for my students. This would be a warm and thoughtful favor.

Awaiting good news, I remain.

By CAROL PREMIO, C.S.W.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

You are invited to ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Dear Carol,
I am a retired businessman. I am in good health and able to drive.
My problem is, even though I keep pretty busy with my hobbies and interests,

I do not feel like I am contributing. I have a need to be useful as well as occupied.
What would you suggest?

Wants to Be Needed

Dear Wants to Be Needed,
It is natural to want to be a contributing individual. Age need not be a deterrent to being a volunteer. In fact, the experience and expertise gained over the years make you more qualified than ever to contribute to the community.
The RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program) established in 1973, matches seniors with different volunteer programs. For information call 839-7979 or 883-2100 ext 227.
You could also contact your local government or clubs and offer your assistance. Your offer of time and labor will be greatly appreciated and your need to be useful will be fulfilled.

Dear Carol,
I am a frustrated left-handed person. It seems like everything in the world is designed for the comfort of the majority — right handed people. It is bad enough being termed wrong handed, sinister (from the Latin for left) and other negatives, but why must all tasks be harder.

Dear Left Out,
It has long been known that anyone who is not part of the absolute majority is left out. Most utensils and gadgets are for the right-handed, most skin creams for the white. However, things are changing — the needs of the non-majority are beginning to be met.
To aid left handers (1 in 10 Americans), some manufacturers have begun to produce items especially geared to their needs. Contact The Left Hand Man, 9 Rice's Lane, Westport, Conn. 06880 or Left Hand Plus, Inc., P.O. Box 161, Morton Grove, Ill. 60053.

Dear Carol,
I have been dating a guy sporadically for the last three years. I have always considered him a kind, sensitive and aware person. He is easy to discuss all kinds of topics with.
Unfortunately, something happened recently to disrupt this opinion. We were going out one evening, he was driving. He became irritated and began driving 90 miles an hour. I requested that he stop this reckless driving — he eventually slowed down. I was flabbergasted that he would show such great disregard for my safety. I felt furious at the time and now feel he cannot be trusted.

What do you think?

Wondering

Dear Wondering,
I think you and this person should have a serious, open discussion on what you feel the responsibilities of being friends entail. The discussion should include the above area of concern — the health and safety of the other person, as well as the appropriateness of dealing with irritation while driving.
Until this is resolved, you do the driving.

Dear Carol,
My daughter is 18 and just got laid-off from her restaurant job. She's going away to college in a few months and really needs the money, but employers want someone who will stay beyond September. A friend tells her she could lie because she needs the job. What do you think?

Concerned Mother

Dear Concerned Mother,
Sometimes prospective employers will check out an applicant's entire work record, even if that applicant is a college graduate. If that employer discovers that the applicant lied in a previous job, it could have a negative impact on the applicant's possibilities.
Your daughter needs to decide how she feels about her responsibility to an employer, and what her future objectives are.

'...and we mean it!...'

By EDWIN FEULNER

Claiming it is time the Supreme Court paid less attention to "spirits" and more to the "clear meaning of plain English," Utah Senator Orrin G. Hatch has launched a one-man crusade to win re-enactment of the landmark 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The only substantial change that would be made in the law banning discrimination based on "race, color, religion, sex, or national origin" would be the addition of the phrase "and we mean it this time."
The unusual legislative action was made necessary, he said, by the Supreme Court's decision upholding racial quotas in a case known as United Steelworkers v. Weber. In that decision, a majority of the court decided that the "spirit" of the 1964 Act permitted an apprentice hiring program which provided a preference to individuals on the basis of their skin color.

The particular bargaining agreement in question reserved 50 percent of the openings in apprentice craft training programs to blacks working in a plant — even though the plant had no previous history of racial discrimination in its hiring policies.

Spirit or no spirit, the language of the 1964 Act specifically forbids such singling out on the basis of race, says the Senator.
"Three separate sections of the 1964 Civil Rights Act state in as clear language as any legislative body is probably ever likely to agree upon that employers cannot hire or fire people simply because of the color of their skin," Senator Hatch said. "The Court's majority even admitted that neither the specific language of those three sections, nor the legislative history nor precedent of the law mitigated on behalf of their decision.

"Thus, the Court's majority relied upon a tortured construction based their conjecture about the 'spirit' of the law. If the Court insists upon making law on the basis of these 'spirits,' instead of the plain language of the statutes passed by Congress, we will be left with the cruel irony of a noble law written to ban forever the blight of racial bigotry being used to justify new forms of government-sanctioned discrimination.

"I was encouraged by Justice Blackmun's admission that, if he and his black-robed colleagues are wrong, the Congress can always correct them. After re-reading the original law, I doubt that any ban of racial discrimination could ever again be so well and precisely stated.

"Recognizing the Court's willingness to be corrected and the beauty of the original language, I am today introducing a bill that restates that language with two addendums: Section 1 of my bill restates section 703(a) of the 1964 Act and adds at the end the provision: 'and we mean it this time.' Section 2 restates section 703(e) and notes that it 'accurately and faithfully reflects the spirit in which Congress acts in approving it.'"

Maybe the second time the message will sink in.
(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institution.)

Reflections

Mere mortal and enjoying it

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

Something really is out of kilter with me, or maybe there is something out of kilter with my friends. It seems my friends have found out something I haven't discovered yet, and that is that they are getting old, and that the only alternative to getting older is dying. It gives me the shudders.

One day last week, with the soft breezes of early fall caressing my cheeks, I drove a friend out into the country.

"Oh look," she cried as we passed a cemetery, "don't you just love that cemetery?"

I kept my eyes straight forward, put my fingers up to my nose and held my breath until we had passed it.

"What are you doing?" she screamed.

"Trying to suffocate myself?"

"I always do that when I pass a cemetery," I told her. "It keeps the spirits away."

She shrugged it off and then said, "I have two lots in that cemetery."

"What for?" I asked.

"For when I die," she answered complacently. "It gives one such a good feeling to know where one is going to be laid after one has gone."

I took a sidewise look at her and the shivers went all over my body, because instead of seeing that girl who had had babies the same time I had babies; instead of seeing that girl who drank coffee with me while our babies played in their playpens, and the diapers sloshed away in the washing machine; instead of seeing that girl who cried and worried with me through our teen-agers; instead of seeing the girl who had her first grandchild about the same time I had mine, I saw a little shriveled up woman, with gray hair, wrinkles around her mouth and her eyes, and trembling hands, who was smiling because she knew what cemetery she was going to be in when she died.

And I hadn't even decided what I wanted to be when I grew up.

The next morning a friend who had shared my street with me when our little ones were growing up, came to town to visit. As we sat on the porch, she pulled her chair over into the sunlight.

"I get so cold," she apologized.

We talked about old times and then she turned her huge grey eyes to me and said in almost a whisper, "What are you going to do if your husband dies first?"

There it was again! My heart leaped up in my throat and my body began to shake.

"Want some coffee?" I asked and tore out to the kitchen where I made a pot of coffee. But she didn't want any. It gave her a stomach ache.

I sat down in the swing and pushed it back and forth, faster and faster as she watched me.

"You didn't answer my question," she said.

"I haven't thought about it," I told her, pushing the swing ever harder.

"I hope I die before I have to live with any of my kids," her face puckered up and she looked at me with intensity. "Don't you?"

"There's the telephone," I shouted and leaped through the door, grabbing the telephone and shouting "Hello."

"Grandma? Will you go bike riding with me?" Saved by a ten year old!

"My bike has a flat tire," I told her.

"You can ride my bike, and I'll ride Mike's."

"Hurry, hurry, hurry," I yelled into the phone. "There is nothing I want to do more than ride a bicycle with you!"

"I TOLD mamma you wouldn't be embarrassed to ride a little bike just 'cause you're old," she shouted triumphantly. "See you!"

"Yeah, see you!" I answered.

Michigan is a national leader in assuring equal rights for handicapped individuals. Michigan's Handicappers' Civil Rights Act provides that handicapped persons cannot be discriminated against when looking for jobs, housing or when entering public places or educational facilities.

The law applies to persons with visual, hearing or mobility impairments, as well as to persons with mental and physical characteristics which are not readily apparent as a handicap.

For example, Michigan restaurants cannot refuse to admit persons in wheelchairs. Because visual impairments are defined by the law as a handicap, employers cannot refuse to hire a person with such an impairment unless the impairment affects the person's ability to do a specific job.

The chief goal of the act is to require employers, landlords and business owners to make decisions concerning employment, leasing or admission to public establishments on an individualized rather than a stereotyped basis.

Under the law, an educational institution may not refuse admission to a handicapped person, if the handicap does not affect their ability to use or benefit from the educational program or service.

The law also prohibits discrimination against persons who use adaptive devices or aides such as wheelchairs, prostheses or eyeglasses.

Complaints about handicapper discrimination should be directed to any Michigan Department of Civil Rights office.

HELLO HONOLULU

Hawaii's main islands are the tops of the largest volcanic mountains on earth. The reason they are not known so well for this is that their bottoms lie some 20,000 feet below the surface of the sea. But they still rise another 13 thousand feet, at their highest, above the Pacific. Of the dozens of islands and islets comprising the 1,500-mile-long Hawaiian chain, only seven are inhabited and, of these, just four are significant tourist destinations - Kauai, Oahu, Maui, and the "Big Island" as Hawaii is called.

Eighty percent of Hawaii's population lives on the island of Oahu - most of them in Hawaii's biggest city, Honolulu. Most visitors spend most of their time on this island. Oahu surfing beaches are famous worldwide and the mere mention of Makaha or Sunset Beach will cause a surfer's toes to twitch. In all, Oahu has 53 beach parks, the most famous being Waikiki. You owe it to yourself to give Hawaii a whirl!

She dispels myths, seeks positive input on residential home

the retarded, and the fears and myths people have grown up believing.

She is trying to head off those potential problems before they happen, to "take another look" at the retarded people as people first, to create understanding before the site is picked and it becomes an emotional subject.

She and other workers have talked to more than 1,400 people in the last eight months, been on television and used whatever means she can to reach residents in the western suburbs.

Northville works in three areas of placement. First, foster care, where a family might choose to invite a retarded person into their own home. The center also is working on new home construction for groups of six mentally retarded adults or less. The homes would be built in the community, where the clients would be able to get the benefit of living in a home and neighborhood, but with 24-hour supervision and support services from the Department of Mental Health.

Northville staffers have also begun to look for existing houses that they might renovate and use as group homes.

But neither a new nor existing home has yet been opened by the unit, Ms. Horvath said.

Once a site is found, and home built or renovated, the facility will have to be licensed by the Department of Social Services and also supervised by the Department of Mental Health.

Individuals placed in the homes would be retarded adults from Plymouth Center and Northville, Ms. Horvath said.

And while the unit is finding homes, she will continue to explain the program wherever she can, using films, such as one recently donated by the Wayne-Westland Ministerial Association, to explode myths and fears about the developmentally disabled.

LINDA BRAUN
SWITCHED TO CHIROPRACTIC

I had severe sinus headaches. I never felt really good. I had backaches and trouble breathing. When I'd get sick I would really get sick and be completely bedridden for days. I was unable to do yard work as well as many other routine activities I enjoyed.

After only my first adjustment, I noticed a remarkable difference. I could breathe easier and since that day I have not had any more sinus headaches. My general health has improved and I can't believe the difference chiropractic has made in my life. It takes 35 minutes to drive from my home to the Ribley Chiropractic Life Center, but I consider it a small inconvenience compared to the terrific results I'm getting from regular adjustments.

Wayne ends 7-year Riverview jinx

Old nemesis falls to Carter's gridders, 13-2

It took some time, but Wayne proved a philosophical point made some centuries ago by Dionysius.

Dionysius, to refresh your memory, pointed out that it is a law of nature which time shall neither annul nor destroy, that those who gave greater strength shall bear rule over those who have less.

It took Coach Floyd Carter and Wayne's football team seven years in fact to get that point across to Riverview and its grid strategist Don Lessner.

Scoring one touchdown in each of the first two quarters, Wayne opened up the Great Lakes 8 Conference season with a 13-2 triumph over the Pirates who have dominated the series between the two teams since the inception of the conference eight years ago.

"Yes, this is the first time we have beaten them in football," sighed Carter whose team is now 2-0 on the season. "Few people realize that fact and, of course, this was our last meeting with them."

Riverview is scheduled to abandon the conference and hitch its athletic star to the Huron Conference next year.

Wayne scored in its first series of plays after the opening kickoff. Quarterback Pete Tavana, using his two howitzers - Rick Rogers and Don Shumpert - in the backfield, blasted the Pirate's defenses until Wayne was comfortably seated on the Riverview one-yard line where Shumpert was given the call.

On the 14th play of the 67-yard drive, Shumpert flew over the line and belted a pass into the Riverview end zone. The six-points proved enough to win this game.

One of the key plays in that march was a pass completion which had Tavana hitting tight end Eric Szarniowski for 13-yards. That crucial completion came on a fourth down and 11 to go on the Pirate 29 yard line.

Wayne didn't get off the point after kick but settled for a desperation pass by Rick Cobalt which was dropped.

The Zebras scored an insurance touchdown in the second quarter after an exchange of punts. Rogers culminated a 74-yard, 12-play drive with a 5-yard off-tackle touchdown sprint. It was Rogers who fueled the drive with a 15-yard run on the third play of the series. He was carried off the field after that run with an injury and replaced by Darryl Hamlin. Hamlin looked good. He counted 31 yards for six carries before the evening was up. However, Rogers (Continued on 4th Sports)

The question is the answer

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Excuse the simile, but coaches and horses, I've suddenly discovered are much alike: one can't figure either out. And that can be exasperating. And expensive.

For example, there is a coach in our midst who has been promulgating sheer propaganda among his colleagues about the strength of his team. This worldly man of "X's" and "O's" unveiled his team's goal to a colleague in the following matter:

"Our plan for this year's team is that we will score a first down before October and maybe a touchdown before November 1," said this learned coach.

Apparently the word got to his team. They spoiled his plans by winning last week.

The coach's name?

Couldn't do that to this friend, but if you peruse the scores you'll find that his was the only team in the area to win 7-0.

Then, there is this coach who urged me to make reservations for the Pontiac Silverdome, assuring me that his team would be among the state finalists this year.

A "sure thing" - and how many times I have heard those two words together - says the coach.

Anyway, two weeks into this perplexing season, the coach is now wondering when and if his team will win a game.

No sympathies. What the coach needs is a couple of good acupuncturists.

Speaking of needles. Here's one.

Dear Mr. Mooradian:

I am a parent of a high school swimmer at John Glenn High School. She had attended Stevenson Junior High and was a swimmer there for three years. My reason for writing is all I ever see in the Eagle is coverage on football and basketball most of the time.

I think that the coaches for John Glenn swimming should be put into the paper more often so they can make swimming more known to the community. We have an assistant coach this year, Mrs. Debbie Sanders, she came from Stevenson Junior High, she will be coaching with Mr. Lawrence on the High School level.

She has been a junior high coach for 5 years and has coached our AAU program which my daughter was in also. I think some background and some ink in the paper should be given to both of our coaches at Glenn.

I think fair is fair, and all I ever see is football and basketball, let's get the lead out and start getting some publicity out on the Glenn coaches for a change!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Cervin

Dear Mrs. Cervin,

Reminds me of a story about the pupiless "Little Annie Rooney" whose adopted millionaire parent got himself into what appeared to be a heap of trouble one day. Seems his enemies were after him - that's what enemies usually do - and they watched as he bandaged

DOUG TOLSON

Tolson wins Schoolcraft title

Running like a perfectly tuned engine, Doug Tolson successfully defended his Schoolcraft College Invitational cross country title by scoring an unprecedented victory over an impressive field of runners who represented 18 schools.

Tolson, the defending Class A state champ and one of the finest prep distance runners in the country, turned in a 15:06 for the 3-mile Cass Benton course to win the individual honors for the second straight year.

No runner in the 11 year history of the invitational has ever captured first place two successive years.

Tolson shaved almost a minute off of his winning time of a year ago. He was only briefly challenged by Northville's Harry Conyournjian who was clocked in 15:57.7.

"Doug is in excellent shape," said Wayne Memorial coach Ernie Rightetti. "He's like a machine, and I've never had a runner like him who can perform the way he does meet after meet after meet."

Despite Tolson's sparkling triumph, Wayne was forced to settle for fourth place. Tolson didn't get enough support from his teammates who finished 26th (Andy Stopcinski), 42 (Mike Tolson) who is Doug's younger brother, 44th (Don Wellman) and 58th (Chris Strome).

Northville managed to return the first place team trophy to its display case. The defending champs garnered 58 points to beat out its closest rival, Livonia Stevenson (123). Farmington was third with 128 while Wayne finished fourth with 171 points. Trailing the Zebras were Livonia Churchill, fifth, with 198, while Westland John Glenn was sixth (210), Plymouth Canton, ninth (223), Livonia Franklin, 11th (246) and Plymouth Salem, 13th (349) in the field of 18 teams.

Churchill's top finisher was Stephan Allan who was 12, followed by Jim Patterson (15), Mark Blais (37), Pete Visotski (60) and Glen Martin (72).

Tom Andrews paced the Westlanders as he crossed the finish line 17. Teammates Santo Campbell (28), Karl Steffes (29), Aaron Staples (66) and Jim Kanclerz (70) contributed to the Rockets' sixth place finish.

5,000 to see Glenn, Franklin grid duel

Westlanders edge Northville; Patriots fall to Stevenson

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

The "big" games are coming earlier each grid season.

Some 5,000 football fans are expected to converge upon Westland John Glenn's stadium Friday night when the Rockets collide with Livonia Franklin in the league opener for both squads.

Both Northwest Suburban League powers sport 1-1 records after two non-conference games and will be ready to go all out in the first of five consecutive league games for each team.

Coach Armand Vigna brings his ever-powerful troops into Westland after upsetting strong Plymouth

Salem, 12-9, in the season opener and dropping a 14-7 game to a veteran Livonia Stevenson contingent last week.

Glenn, on the other hand, started slowly with a stunning, 26-0, drubbing at the hands of state power Dearborn Edsel Ford but the Rockets fought back to overtake Northville in overtime Friday night, 21-20, in a thriller.

Coach Chuck Gordon and his staff were elated with their team's come-from-behind victory over a good Northville team but has no time to savor the victory. With Franklin ready to invade the Rocket pad, Friday's victory is "past history" as all thoughts turn to the invasion by the "Jolly Giants of Joy Road."

"We've had a chance to watch Franklin play and they look strong and solid again this year," assessed Gordon. "We'll have to play our best to stay with them."

Vigna was just as "cautious" as Gordon about the clash, which always causes sparks.

"We expect it to be another typical hard-hitting Glenn-Franklin game," commented Vigna, who said Stevenson outplayed his Patriots and were the better team in Franklin's 14-7 loss Friday.

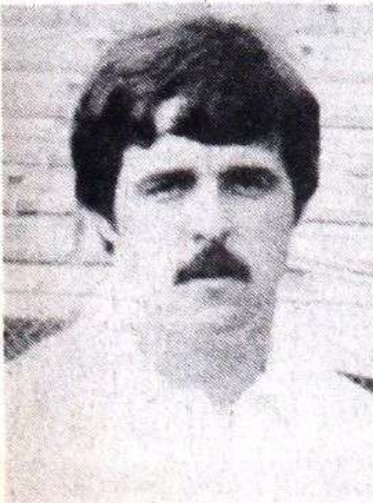

The Rockets, on the other hand, are coming off a stimulating, emotional 21-20 victory over a good Northville team in overtime that should help Gordon's players get ready for Franklin.

"I'm really happy for the kids," Gordon said after his Rockets overcame a 14-7 deficit to tie the game with 2:15 remaining and then win in overtime. "I'm especially glad the way the kids fought back."

Glenn opened the game very strong and looked like a different team than the one which lost to Edsel Ford in the season opener. The Rockets stopped Northville's first thrust and rolled 63 yards in 17 plays to take a 7-0 lead with 1:53 left in the first period.

Touchdown

Romulus came up with too little, too late in its attempt to stop running back Tom Bonner (36) who lunges into the end zone despite the efforts of the anemic Eagle defense to score one of five Garden City East touchdowns Friday night. East made it two in a row at the expense of Romulus, 46-13. Coach Don Foley's gridders will try to snap a two-game losing streak on the home turf Friday afternoon when an also winless Ann Arbor Huron provides the entertainment.

R.U. says 'good-bye', 20-0

Belleville offense sputters

Saying "good-bye" can hurt one's feelings.

Especially the way Redford Union bid adieu to Belleville High Friday night on the gridiron. R.U. concluded its Suburban 8 Conference relationship by shutting out Mike Colletta's Tigers 20-0.

And don't expect Belleville to shed any tears over Redford's departure from the league. Over the years Belleville has managed to beat their rivals only once in conference play. (R.U. is now affiliated with the Northwest Suburban Conference and is finishing up its commitments to the Sub-8).

"We did not have a good offensive game against them," said Colletta, who is in his first year as the Tigers' head coach. "Our problem is our offensive line. There are breakdowns up there at different times by different people, so it's really hard to get anything going."

"Without consistency on offense you're not going to win many games," he added.

The fact that his two quarterbacks also were responsible for three interceptions portrays another serious defect in the ailing offensive machinery. The Tigers managed an anemic 47 total yards rushing and a mere 12 yards passing.

Meanwhile, Redford Union chalked up 265 yards from its ground attack and a 35 in the air.

"As one can conclude from the stats, we didn't do much," Colletta lamented.

Only once, thanks to an excellently executed fake punt, did the Tigers manage to get inside the R.U. 25 yard line, but the threat dissipated because of the lack of offensive support.

The one bright spot came on defense where strong safety Barry

Reddick collected nine solo tackles and six assists.

Scoreless the first 12 minutes of the game, R.U. took a 7-0 halftime lead and increased the margin to 14-0 at the end of three quarters, then scored midway in the final period to make it 20-0. The Tigers had their problems defending an elusive Bob Utysh who rang up 138 yards on 14 attempts and scored one touchdown. Bob Freidman bolted into the Tiger end zone from five yards out and Andy Szabo capped a sustained drive and scored from the one for the other touchdowns.

Belleville, now 0-2, will be in troubled waters again Friday night when the Tigers run up against undefeated Trenton, considered a legitimate heir to the conference crown presently in possession of Plymouth Salem.

Belleville is host for the 7:30 p.m. encounter.

Romulus caves in 2nd half

Will the real Romulus defense stand up please?

After the Eagles pathetic performance at Garden City East Friday night, Romulus coach Don Foley may be wondering if he shouldn't sue his defensive team for playing under an assumed name.

"There was a total lack of defense in the second two quarters," Foley said after the Eagles dropped their second straight game, 46-13, to East's Panthers. "It was a complete turnaround from the week before when we had the defense but had trouble scoring."

If Romulus doesn't put everything together against Ann Arbor Huron, a team that has had its share of problems, Friday afternoon, it could be a frightful year for the Eagles.

Huron was upset 7-0 by Livonia Churchill last Friday. Churchill, a team that looked unimpressive against Fordon the week before.

Romulus had the lead briefly in the East game, but the Panthers scored twice within the span of a 1½ minutes to take command and rush out in front 32-13 at halftime. East scored in its first series of plays after the kickoff as tailback Tom Bonner plunged over from the three. Bonner wound up with three TDs and 110 yards rushing.

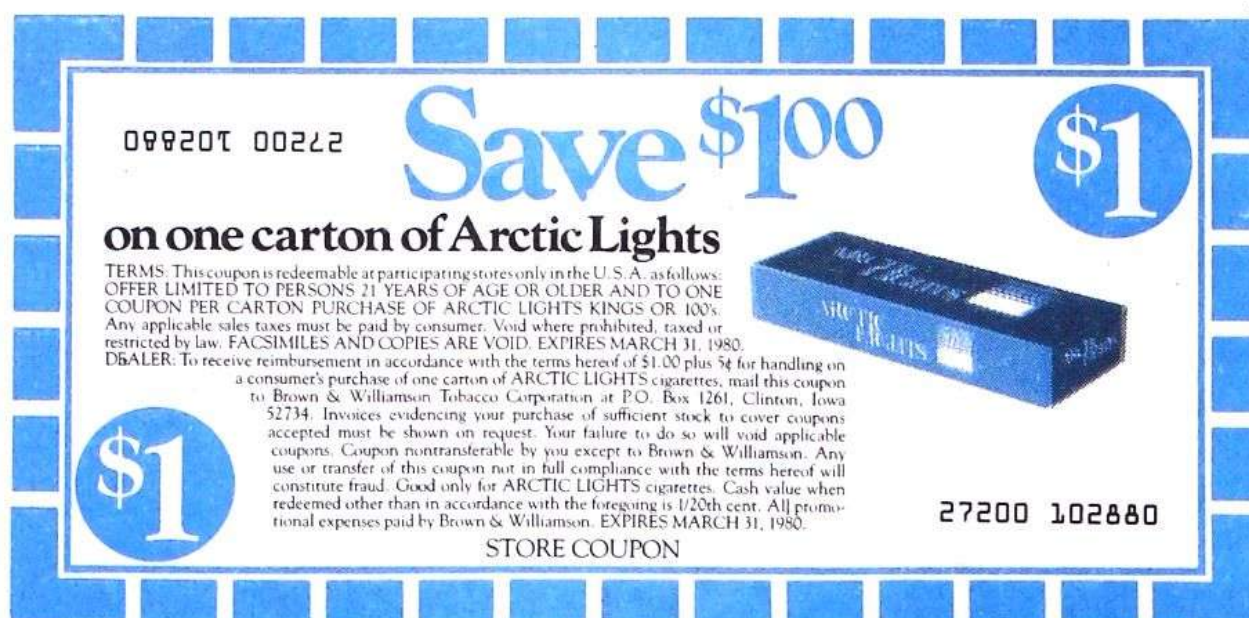

The Eagles countered with their first touchdown midway in the opening period. Quarterback Dwayne Parker engineered a 11-play, 60-yard drive that culminated with Shawn Green scoring from the one. Marty Knight kicked the point after, giving the visitors a 7-6 advantage.

In the closing minutes of that quarter, East took the lead for good on a touchdown pass from quarterback Bill Orr to Brian Belcher which covered 20 yards that polished off a midfield drive. Ahead 12-7 after the first 12 minutes, East was comfortably out in front 32-12 at halftime.

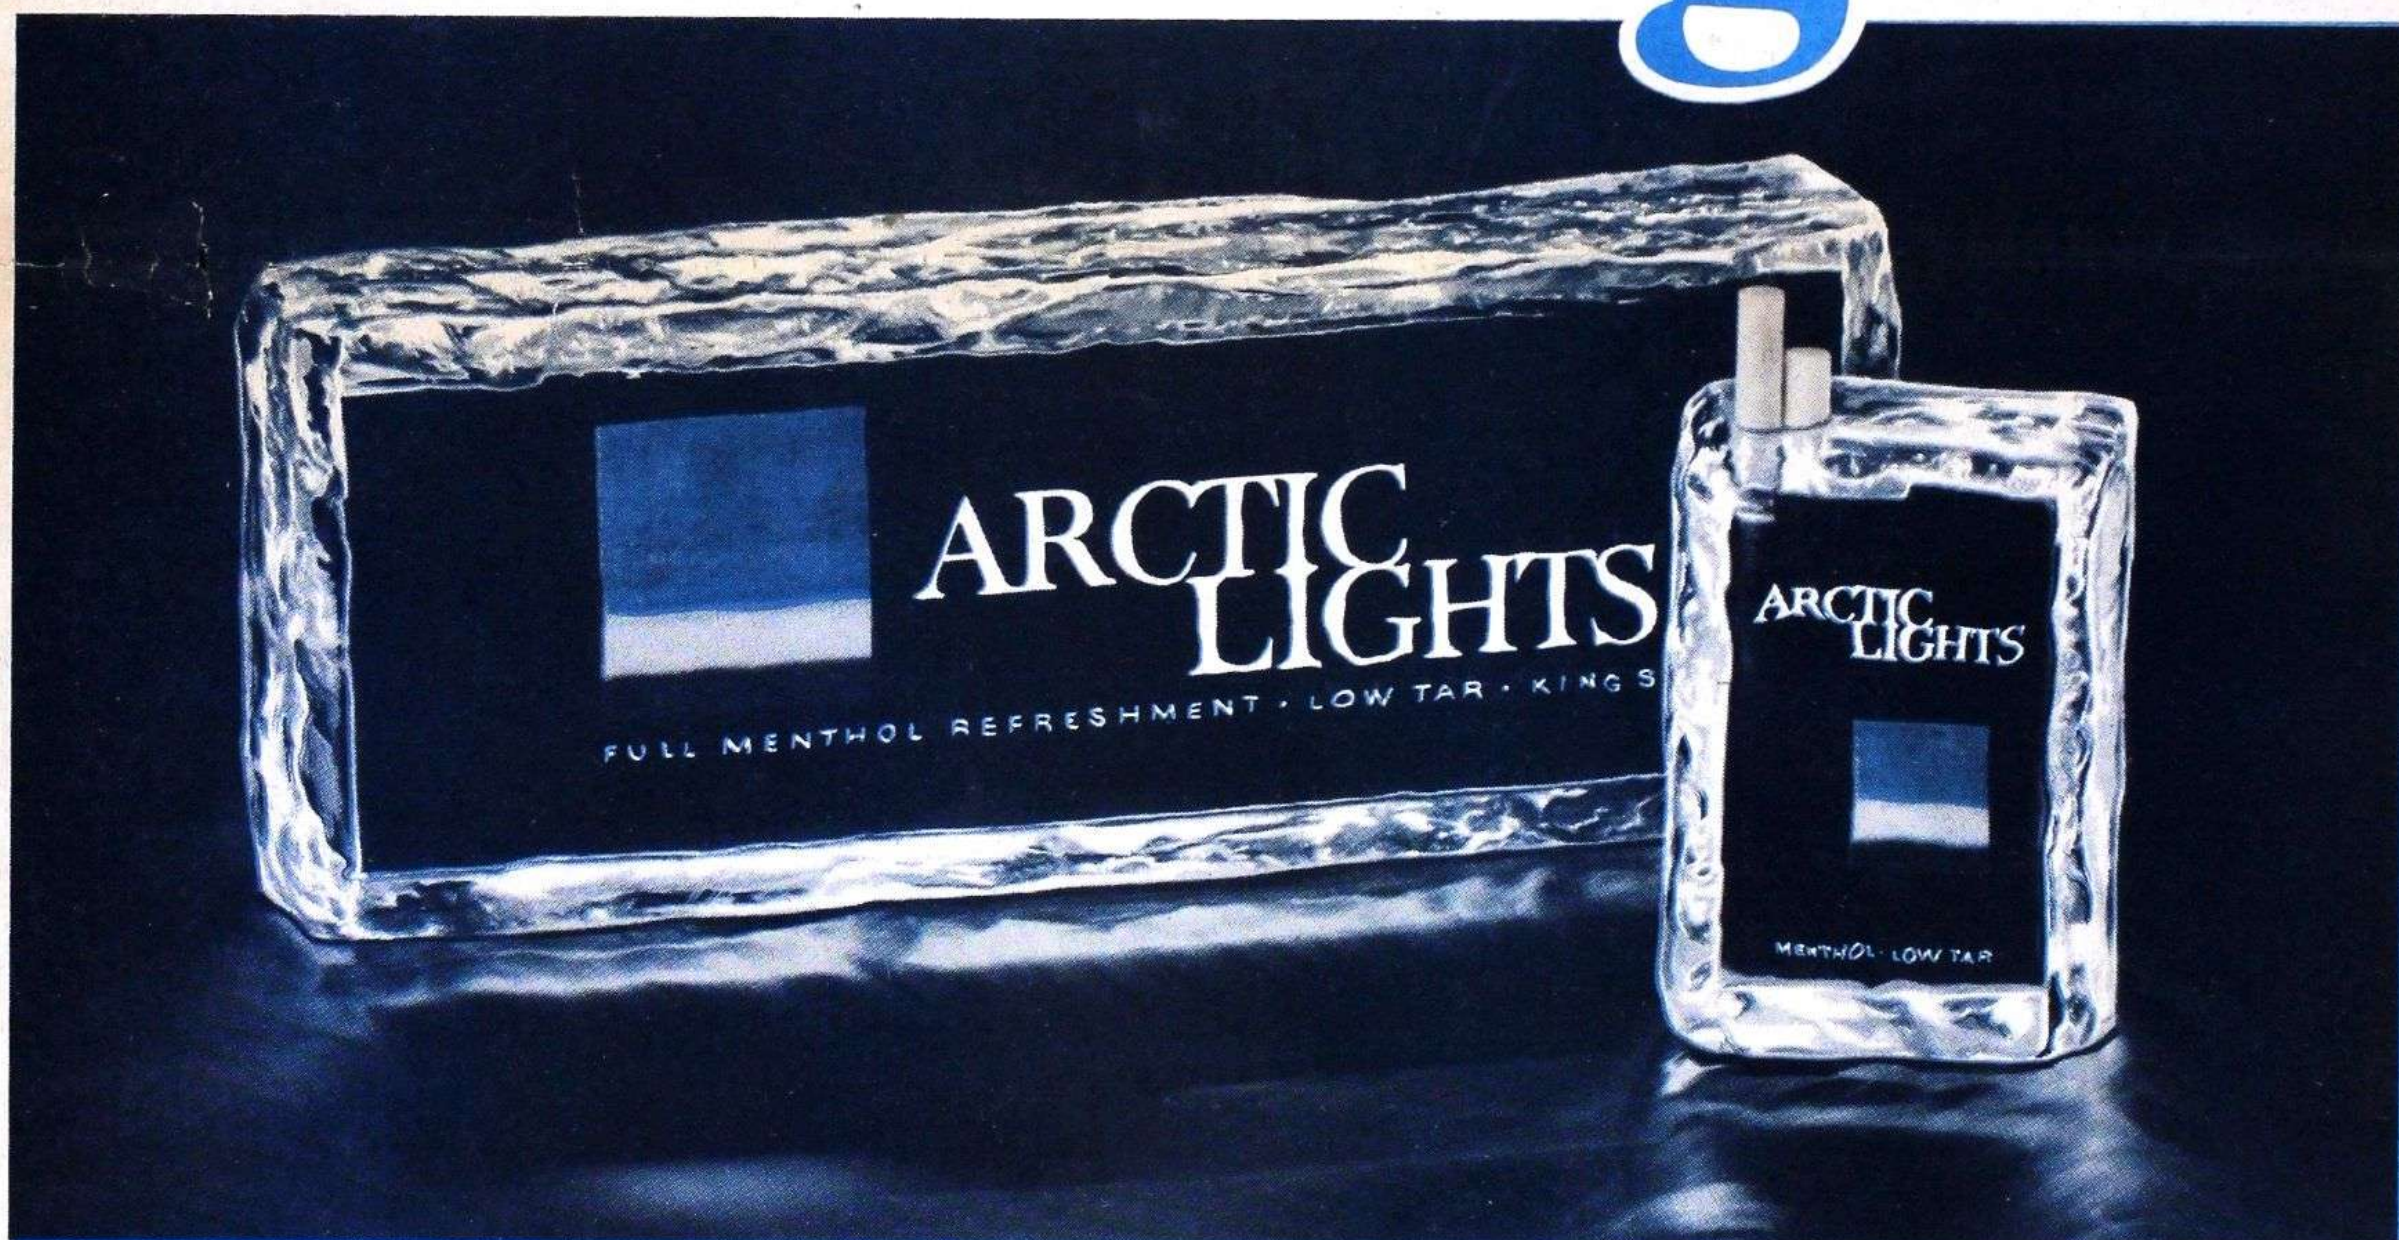

Vince Carter, who was instrumental in Romulus' initial TD drive, stunned East on a fourth-down play and scored from 17 yards out in the second quarter. That proved to be the Eagles' final tally of the evening.

The fast-moving runningback found the tackle slot closed to him, quickly maneuvered to the outside and went all the way for his first touchdown of the season.

Jackson jolts Inkster, 56-0

Injury-plagued Vikings await Highland Park

As if he didn't have enough headaches after losing an one-sided 56-0 out-of-league affair Saturday night at Jackson Lumen Christi, now Inkster Coach Arnice James must face title-favorite Highland Park.

"Highland Park is definitely the team to beat in our league," said Coach James after his Vikings dropped their second game. "They have a good, solid, fast and big club this year, and my major concern isn't what the score is going to be, but will we have enough people to put on the field against them."

Coach James said he was carrying 24 players at the start of the season and eight have sustained injuries during the two-week period.

"I don't know if we're going to be able to suit up a team Friday afternoon, but we'll try."

Highland Park will bring a 1-1 won-lost record to the Viking camp Friday. (Kickoff is slated for 3:30 p.m.) The Parkers are one of three teams that share the Suburban Athletic Conference championship. Dearborn Heights Robichaud (0-2) and River Rouge (1-1) have the other parts of the title.

Jackson, Lumen Christi didn't need but received ample help in the form of turnovers to run up the 56-0 rout of their ailing visitors. The Vikings fumbled five times deep in their own territory to set up Jackson scores.

"I'm not taking anything away from them," said Coach James,

"but we hurt ourselves with our ineptness. Giving the ball up five times is inexcusable."

For all purposes, Jackson had the wraps on the game after the first two quarters when the hosts built up a 35-0 wedge. Inkster came back in the second half and tried the air waves in over to get on the board. Although quarterback Kim Hammonds connected on 7 of 25 passes for 80 yards, the Vikings never set foot inside Jackson's 20-yard line all night.

Man on the go

In a turnaround from a week ago, Romulus flashed signs of respectability on offense thanks, in part, to running back Shawn Green (33) shown above turning the corner and heading into the Garden City East end zone. But Coach Don Foley's defenders caved in and were overwhelmed by the Panthers who handed the visitors their second straight loss. Romulus will attempt to rebound this weekend at the expense of Ann Arbor Huron, a 7-0 loser to Livonia Churchill.

the members of its girls' team on the all-Schoolcraft Invitation team. Honored for their seventh and eighth place finishes were Laura Weyand who was clocked in 20:21 for the three miles and Lena Kasper who turned in a 20:54.

Redford Union's super freshman, Angie Logeiski led her team to victory. The ninth grader runner covered the course in an outstanding 19:33 to win the gold.

Wayne and Glenn managed to get in a couple of meets before testing their strengths at the invitational.

Wayne dropped a 24-31 decision to Suburban 8 Conference power Edsel Ford despite Tolson easy victory, then came back and whipped Riverview 24-33 as Tolson again coasted in first in the opening of the Great Lakes 8 Conference meeting. Against Edsel's T-Birds, Tolson was clocked in 15:23. Stopinski was third (16:01) and other Wayne finishers included Don Wellman (8), Mike Tolson (10) and Chris Strome (11).

Glenn was sandwiched between winner Adrian (35) and third-place finishing Dearborn (45) in its traditional triangular opener last week. Coach Jerry Szukaitis' harriers finished third, fifth and sixth with Andrews, Campbell and Steffes, while Pete Stephen was 11 and Kanclerz wound up 16.

Dearborn's Bill Courtney had the individual best time of 16:03.

Fordson, the reigning Great Lakes 8 Conference champ, looked good at the Early Bird Invitational as the Tractors won over a field of eight teams by posting 22 points. St.

Alphonsus, another Dearborn school, finished second (75) while Glenn runners were third (81). Grosse Ile (113), Southgate (123), Lincoln Park (137), Schafer (174) and Dearborn Heights Annapolis (206) followed in that order.

Wayne will travel to West Bloomfield on Saturday to compete in the Shrine Invitational, which will be staged at 10 a.m. at Marsh Park.

DON FOLEY

Huron in Romulus path

But two quick East TDs quickly radically changed the picture. Bonner ran up the middle for a 15-yard touchdown jaunt then, after the ensuing kickoff, picked off a Parker pass and ran it back 35 yards into the Eagles' end zone.

"Those two quick TDs killed us," Foley admitted. "It was the straw that broke the camel's back."

East scored two more times on an Orr-to-Rick Galan pass that covered 50 yards and on Bonner's 5-yard off tackle slant in the third quarter to pick up their second victory in as many starts.

Despite the lopsided score, the stats, for whatever their worth, were almost even. Both teams carded 13 first downs. Romulus had the edge in rushing yardage 181 to 172, however, the Panthers' aerial attack netted them 136 yards as compared to the Eagles' 19. Romulus also fumbled three times, and lost all three. Parker completed two of six passes with one intercepted. Knight also attempted nine passes and two of those wound up in enemy hands.

Carter and Green churned out 128 and 72 yards on 15 and 19 carries respectively. Defensively, Green, a linebacker, counted eight solo and four assists. Knight, a tackle, also got a good share of ballcarriers. He floored seven and received credit for two assists. Hiram Golden chalked up five unassisted tackles and two assists.

Romulus is the host for the 3:30 p.m. Friday game against Ann Arbor and Coach Foley predicts a hard-fought game.

"Both of our teams are looking for their first victory," Foley said, "and whenever you have that kind of match up, the pressure is on."

Glenn, Franklin clash in Northwest opener

Discher, the Rockets looked more like the Glenn grid teams of the past three years which ran up one of the best won-lost records in the state.

With senior tailback Scott Thornton doing the bulk of the ball-toting duties, Discher moved the Rockets smartly to their go-ahead touchdown, their first of the year. Thornton picked up four first downs in the drive, two on 4th-and-1 plays, the last carry taking the ball to the Mustang 13-yard-line.

Two more Thornton smashes into the line brought it to the 8-yard-line. Then Discher deftly faked to Thornton up the middle, dropped back and hit slotback Anthony Cabrera in the middle of the endzone for the TD. Junior defensive tackle John Johnston booted the extra point and Glenn led 7-0 with 1:53 left in the first period.

Thornton looked especially good in the drive, running with quickness and authority which helped him gain 102 yards in 29 carries during the game.

Northville, inspired by a large home crowd and the running of scatback Joe Hamp, took control of the game and dominated the second and third quarters while scoring two touchdowns for a 14-7 lead.

Glenn, leading 7-0, took over the ball on Northville's 20-yard-line after a bad snap on a punt attempt early in the second quarter, but a fumbled pitchout stopped the drive.

The Rocket defense kept Mustang QB Dave Greer under control and Gordon praised the defensive work of Frank Iannello and Thornton, who played linebacker, defensive end Cory Gielinski and defensive back Greg Walters. Defensive back Kevin Asher came up with a key interception on Glenn's 18-yard-line with only 2:40 left in the first half to keep Northville scoreless.

Hamp slipped through for four yards to the Glenn 27 before Greer threw a long bomb for split end Dan Goehmann, a 6-foot, 160-pound flanker in the endzone. Goehmann, who had to look over both of his shoulders, turned again and made one of the most sensational touchdown catches seen on a high school grid iron in years. His twisting, diving, turning grab was truly unbelievable — and the jammed Northville stands gave him a standing ovation. Thomson booted the extra point to up the Mustang lead to 14-7 at 2:07 of the third quarter.

Senior quarterback Ken Liedel, who did not practice all week because of an injured right hand, started the second half for Glenn. The poised senior was instrumental in the Rocket resurgence which led to victory. First it was the defense doing its thing, perhaps THE key play of the game.

With the Glenn defensive line coming full blast on a planned play, Frank Iannello blocked the Northville punt and Glenn got the ball on the host 33-yard-line. The fired up Rockets, however, just missed by inches as four carries by tailback Thornton were stopped short of a first down with 7:20 left.

Glenn's defense again stopped Northville and took a punt on its 45-yard-line. A pass interference call against Northville gave Glenn a first down on Northville's 35. Junior Greg O'Neil, filling in for Thornton with a leg cramp, rammed two carries for a first down.

With center Russ Hall, tackle Gary Black and Keith Zimmerman doing outstanding offensive blocking, QB Liedel fired a perfect 25-yard-touchdown pass to 5-11, 160-pound senior split end Pat Bennett in the extreme back right-hand corner of the endzone. The point was added by Johnston and made the score 14-14 with only 2:15 left.

A razzle-dazzle "flea-flicker" pass from Liedel to junior end Doug Cort for 28-yards almost gave Glenn a chance for a game-winning field goal, but time ran out in regulation.

In the overtime period, each team got the ball on the opponent's 10-yard-line and had four downs to score.

Northville won the toss of the coin and elected to go on defense. Glenn, using Thornton on all four carries behind the surging Rocket blockers, scored off left tackle on fourth down from the one. Johnston kicked the extra point, but a confused Glenn player ran onto the field during the play and the point was nullified. However, the confident junior defensive tackle booted the extra point through the uprights from five yards farther to give Glenn a 21-20 lead.

Northville was stopped on its first three downs, but QB Greer, back to pass, found no one open and raced around right end and blasted two Glenn defenders into the endzone for the touchdown.

On the two-point conversion, Greer dropped back, had some time, looked like he might try to skirt left end, but finally wound up passing over the head of an open receiver on the back line of the endzone.

Glenn wound up with 136 yards rushing and completed 3-of-5 passes for 52 yards and had eight first downs. Northville rushed for 106 yards, hit only 3-of-11 passes for 67 yards and one interception, and also had eight first downs.

Now comes the big collision Friday night at 8 p.m. between Glenn and Franklin.

Wayne is ready for 3rd test, Taylor Truman came back into the picture after his departure to score his third TD of the season.

Tavana kicked the extra point.

Riverview didn't give in. The Pirates came back to dominate the game in the second half. In fact, they had possession of the ball most of the third quarter and on one of two plays that Wayne managed to get off resulted in a two-point safety.

The two teams played in the middle of the field most of the final 12 minutes.

Wayne collected 14 first downs, only three of those were in the second half, however. The Pirates had 10. Yardage-wise Wayne compiled 173 to 97 on the ground and Tavana connected on four of six passes for 54 yards. Three of those aeriels found their way into Mike Blair's sure hands.

Rogers wound up with 64 yards in 13 carries, but he only carried the ball twice in the second half, and Shumpert chipped in with 60 yards in 16 tries.

Wayne's defenses were led by Gary Duplessis, a linebacker who counted 10 solo tackles including a crucial sack of the quarterback that stalled a long Riverview drive. Bob Spada, an interior lineman, also had eight unassisted tackles.

Riverview got 102 yards from Bruce Jendritz who was called upon 16 times to carry the ball.

Wayne shoots for No.3 against Truman Friday night. It is Carter and the Zebras' first appearance before the home crowd.

"I expect a hard hitting game," commented Carter about his second conference test of the season. "They are coming here with a 1-1 record and wouldn't like anything better than to know us off."

Vigna: 'Stevenson was better team'

Livonia Franklin Coach Armand Vigna is hoping that whatever caused his football team to malfunction at Stevenson Friday night isn't infectious.

"Stevenson was the better team," Vigna said after his Patriots bowed to their cross-town, non-league rivals, 14-7. "They outplayed us. We looked bad on offense."

Whatever ailed Franklin must be cured by Friday when the Patriots take on improved Westland John Glenn Friday night for their Northwest Suburban Conference opener.

"We've got to find some offense - that's what our problem is," the veteran mentor said. "We had 49 yards rushing against Stevenson, and you're not going to win if you can't establish a solid ground game."

And what about the Glenn-Franklin match-up?

"We have both had problems in different areas of this game," Vigna said. "We can't generate an offense and their defense isn't as strong as it has been over the past three years. As usual, I expect it to be another classic duel."

Despite Stevenson's heavily-favored edge in statistics, the Spartans had their problems shaking Franklin off their backs. In fact, Franklin snatched the lead away from their hosts before the half, 7-6. A third quarter Stevenson touchdown stood up as the difference in the game.

Stevenson got on the scoreboard in the first quarter when quarterback Dave Hall scored on a nine-yarder around right end. The Spartans failed to get the extra point.

Early in the second quarter Franklin tied and went ahead, 7-6. Jack Williams blocked a Spartan punt and Franklin recovered on the Stevenson 37-yard line with less than a minute gone into the period. It took nine plays for the Patriots to tie the score and that occurred on an 8-yard pass from quarterback Jon McCarthy to Steve Wright, who made a divine catch in the end zone.

Weddings dominate local scene

Newly wed Bruders hold park reception

The Belleville United Presbyterian Church was reserved Aug. 25 for the double ring ceremony which joined Virginia Arlene Schudel and Keith Chalmer Bruder in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Gordon Irvine presided at the 2:45 p.m. rite before some 150 assembled relatives and friends. Pat Flemming was organist.

Mrs. Mildred Olwick and Conrad Schudel, both of Swanton, Ohio, are parents of the bride while Belleville residents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Straub of Elwell Road, are parents of the bridegroom.

A long, white cotton eyelet gown was the choice of the bride for her wedding day. Fashioned with a ruffled, off-the-shoulder neckline and lace-edged flounce at the hemline, the dress was accessorized by a modified white picture hat. Her bouquet was a blend of vari-colored gladiolus.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Connie Kinsman of Wauseon, Ohio donned a yellow cotton eyelet frock cut in mid-calf length and fashioned along the same lines as the bride's dress.

Bridesmaids in identical gowns of beige, pink, green and lavender, were Mrs. Rebecca Thanasiu of Sylvania, Ohio; Carolyn Welhener and Marilyn Meyer, both of Cincinnati, Ohio and Barbara Dillon of New Rochelle, N.Y. The quintet carried bouquets of mixed gladiolus like those in the bridal arrangement.

The bridegroom's two nephews, Aaron Darnell, the son of the James Darnells of Romulus, and David Brown, the son of the George Browns of Belleville, carried out the roles of ringbearers.

A close friend, Curtis Smith of San Francisco, Calif., was asked to be best man. The corps of ushers included Tom Dorwart and Ian Chin of Chicago, Ill.; George Foster of East Lansing, and Michael Suthers of Arlington Heights, Ill.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Olwick chose a green and beige dress to which she pinned her matching carnation corsage. Mrs. Straub, the bridegroom's mother, donned a blue and beige outfit and a carnation corsage to match.

Some 225 guests later assembled at Van Buren Park for the outdoor reception and meal prepared by the young couple and their families. The group was on hand to see the newlyweds arrive in a 1954 Jaguar.

Following a week-long honeymoon at Put-In-Bay on Lake Erie, Ohio, the young couple took up residence at 711 Savage Rd., Belleville.

The new Mrs. Bruder is a marketing representative for McGraw-Hill, Inc. of Southeastern Michigan. A member of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW), she holds bachelor and master degrees in business education from Bowling Green State University.

Her husband is a graduate of Michigan State University School of Landscape Architecture and is self-employed at Keith Bruder Landscape Design and Construction of Belleville. Affiliated with Delta Chi fraternity while at MSU, he currently is a member of the Belleville Rotary Club.

The rehearsal party was hosted by the Albert Straubs at their home on Elwell Road.

Heberle-Kozma vows read in California

MR. AND MRS. JACK I. HEBERLE

Married in a recent summer ceremony in a chapel at the La Valencia Hotel in La Jolla, Calif. were Gaeney Marie Kozma and Jack Irvin Heberle.

A former Michigan resident, Gaeney is the daughter of Steve and Leona Kozma of Belleville. Jack is a native Californian, the son of Irvin and Leona Heberle of Bakersfield.

Officiating at the noon-day rite was Jim Becker, Unitarian minister from La Jolla, who read a contemporary service chosen by the couple. Included was a reading from Kahlil Gibran's "The Prophet" (On Marriage) delivered by their friend, Corky Johnson of Los Angeles.

As the bridal party entered, Annie Berardini of San Diego sang "Songbird", accompanying herself on the hotel's antique grand piano. After the couple had exchanged vows, she sang "The Wedding Song-There is Love."

Throughout the rite, the couple stood before a large bay window overlooking the ocean, the window decked on either side by ceramic pedestals of cascading flowers.

Some 125 guests saw the bride escorted down the aisle by her father. She wore for her wedding day a summer-styled gown of crisp white organza with a sleeveless, off-the-shoulder bodice, the neckline frosted with pink and white rose petals and her scalloped full skirt terminating in a chapel train.

She wore sprigs of baby's breath and pink roses in her hair and, around her neck, a single pearl on a gold chain, a gift from her parents.

A pale blue qiana dress, V-necked with spaghetti straps, was worn by the maid of honor, Patty Batt of Costa Mesa, Calif. The bodice of her gown was layered with a sheer chiffon blouse top with Grecian sleeves. Accessorizing her outfit were a silk-weave straw hat and bouquet of white, blue and yellow blooms.

Best man, Bill Johnson of Fallbrook, was joined by groomsmen, Tom Kozma, brother of the bride from Lansing; Jeff Heberle, brother of the bridegroom from Bakersfield, and Don Mushin of Leucadia.

Youngsters in the bridal coterie were Aimee Ashton, flowergirl, and Jeff Heberle Jr., ringbearer. The daughter of Jack and Mitzi Ashton of San Diego, Aimee donned a white chiffon frock with ruffled neck, long sleeves and pleated skirt. Strands of ribbon and a cluster of flowers formed her headdress while a white wicker basket filled with yellow rose petals completed her ensemble.

The ringbearer, nephew of the bridegroom and son of the Jeff Heberles of Bakersfield, delivered the rings on a white satin pillow designed and sewn by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Proulx of San Diego.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kozma selected a long-skirted dress of dusty pink chiffon with a blouse cover in shades of pinks and blues. Mrs. Heberle, the bridegroom's mother, appeared in a pale blue chiffon gown with a long pleated skirt and long-sleeved bodice. Both were presented corsages to match their gowns.

A sit-down champagne brunch was served in the hotel's garden buffet room after the ceremony. Joining the bride's family in congratulating the young couple were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kozma, the bride's uncle and aunt from Wayne, Mich.

Following the festivities, the newlyweds took a month-long honeymoon trip to the Hawaiian Islands and to parts of the Orient — Hong Kong, Singapore, Bangkok, Thailand and Bali.

The new Mrs. Heberle is a 1971 graduate of Belleville High School who attended Eastern Michigan University before moving to California. Her husband graduated with a business degree from San Jose State University and is presently engaged in the sale and development of real estate in the Fallbrook-Ranch California area. His bride plans to assist him in his business activities.

The couple will reside in their new home in Fallbrook but will also maintain a beach residence on the Balboa Peninsula in the Newport Beach area.

David Gowen, Marjorie Koeppe married in Aug. 18 ceremony

A special place in the Nichols Arboretum in Ann Arbor had been chosen by Marjorie Koeppe and David Gowen for their Aug. 18 wedding date. However, the weather didn't cooperate and because of several rain showers on this day, the ceremony was held at the Odd-fellows Hall of Belleville which had been reserved for the wedding.

reception. The Rev. Allen B. Rice, former pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville, came from Lansing to preside at the service.

Escorted to an improvised altar by her father, Max Koeppe of Belleville, Marjorie was gowned in an ivory lace and satin creation (the work of her mother, Mrs. Max Koeppe) with a chapel train drifting from the empire waistline.

The bride's long-time friend, Marion Jahner of West Palm Beach, Florida, was chosen to be maid of honor with her sister, Sallie Gross of Belleville Rhonda Miasano of Ypsilanti and her 9-year-old niece, Michelle St. Cyr of Belleville, filling the roles of bridesmaids. The foursome appeared in rainbow-colored frocks of green, yellow, peach and coral.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Gowen of Borgman Road, Belleville, asked Terry Viers of Ypsilanti to be best man. Groomsmen were Ernest and Vern Gowen of Belleville, brothers of the bridegroom, and Jeff Marsh of Belleville, the 14-year-old nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Koeppe chose for her daughter's wedding a 2-piece gown of cocoa trimmed in brown. Mrs. Gowen, the bridegroom's mother, donned a print accordeon pleated dress. Both mothers were presented with orchids as were the two grandmothers, Mrs. Margaret Koeppe of Belleville and Mrs. Sadie Holland of Etheridge, Tenn.

The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Mary Pakerwinski of Belleville, a long time friend of the Koeppe's. She also designed the bridal bouquet and flowers carried by the attendants.

The dinner was prepared and served by the College of Regents of the Women of the Moose. Guests were present from Alabama, Tennessee, Florida, Detroit and the surrounding areas.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at their home on Borgman Road.

Newlyweds making home in Honolulu

The garden of the bride's parents home in Dearborn was the setting Aug. 3 for the wedding of Eileen Lois Kuchta and Allan Roy Bebeau who exchanged vows at six in the evening before The Rev. Russell Smith.

The bride is the daughter of Anthony S. and Mary Lou (Shaffer) Kuchta of 22907 Wilson, Dearborn, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Leona Agge and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kuchta Sr., all of Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Webster Bebeau of Honolulu, Hawaii.

An ivory gown, designed with a lifted lace bodice, lace sleeves and lace trimmed chapel train had been made for the bride by her mother and a family friend, Mrs. Richard Holmes. Her bouquet was comprised of white roses, carnations and baby's breath.

As her sister's only attendant, Christine Kuchta of Cedarburg,

Wisc. donned an aqua empire style frock with a lace-edged jacket and carried white roses, aqua carnations and baby's breath.

Sidney Keamu of Honolulu served as best man.

Music for the outdoor ceremony was provided by the bride's sisters, Joanne and Michelle, who played the guitar and sang, respectively.

At the reception which followed in the Fairlane Club of Dearborn, the bride's mother greeted guests in a strawberry pink floor-length gown to which she added a corsage of gardenias. The guest list included relatives and friends from Sao Paulo, Brazil, where the bride's parents lived for the past three years; Hawaii, Wisconsin, Ohio, New York, Oklahoma and Illinois.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe and Las Vegas, the newlyweds made their home in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Henseys honeymoon in Northern Michigan

Double ring vows were solemnized Aug. 28 at the First Baptist Church of Ypsilanti uniting in marriage Margaret Ruth McCully of Belleville and Michael Frank Hensey of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Rev. William A. Bingham officiated at the ceremony which joined the daughter of Mrs. Wilfred D. McCully and the late Mr. McCully and the son of Mrs. Frank Murphy and the late M. E. Hensey.

Mrs. Pam Cyrus, organist, accompanied Mrs. Rosalann Wilcox as she sang "The Lord's Prayer." Honor candles were lighted by the bridal couple in memory of their fathers and at the completion of the service, together they set their unity candle aglow.

The bride carried an arrangement of pink rosebuds to contrast with her street-length gown of teal blue qana.

Her honor attendant, Gail Hyzer of Belleville, donned a burnt orange frock and held yellow rosebuds. Darrel Gyzer of Belleville served as best man.

A reception followed in the church parlor after which the newlyweds departed for a brief honeymoon in Northern Michigan. At the present time they are living in Belleville.

A 1969 graduate of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Hensey attended Ferris State College, Cleary College and Ann Arbor School of Practical Nursing and was later employed at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

A 1966 graduate of Hamady High School in Flint and 1971 alumnus of Ferris State College, the bridegroom has since been employed as assistant to the controller of Apollo Medical Center in St. Petersburg.

MR. AND MRS. CRAIG B. MOODY

Garden patio is setting for Moody-Barnett wedding

Sand Lake in Northern Michigan was the honeymoon destination for the newly wed Craig B. Moodys who, since their return have taken up residence at 745 E. Huron River Dr., Lot 12, Belleville.

Kimberly Kaye Barnett, the daughter of Marguerite Barnett of Ypsilanti and Jack Barnett of Wayne, exchanged vows with Craig B. Moody on Aug. 11. The garden patio at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Demski on Martinsville Road, Belleville, was the setting for the 4:30 p.m. ceremony read by the Hon. Henry Zaborowski, Judge 34th District Court.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Robert Demski of Martinsville Road and David Moody of Belleville Road, Belleville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white polyester knit with an illusion neckline forming an open keyhole frosted with lace appliques. The

Her headpiece was a cluster of yellow forget-me-nots and her little colonial nosegay was comprised of miniature white roses and yellow and blue forget-me-nots.

Bobby Dalton, the 9-year-old son of the Bill Daltons, and the nephew of the bridegroom, carried out the duties of ringbearer. Some 250 guests later gathered at the PNA Hall for the dinner and reception which followed. At that time the bride's mother greeted guests in a pink polyester gown with a companion jacket to which she pinned her corsage of white carnations and pink roses. A similar corsage in white and salmon was presented to Mrs. Demski, the bridegroom's mother who chose to wear a toe-touching floral summer print organza gown with matching coat. Also honored with flowers was Mrs. Louise Demski, the bridegroom's grandmother.

A 1978 graduate of Belleville High School, the bride currently is working as a dispatcher for the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department. Her husband attended Belleville High School and is employed at Margolis Nursery in Ypsilanti.

The rehearsal dinner, an outdoor picnic, was held at the Robert Demski home.

Bridegroom's father conducts nuptial

In a mid-summer wedding at Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus, Victoria Lynn Wilks became the bride of Paul Franklin England. The 6 p.m. ceremony on Aug. 18 was conducted by the bridegroom's father, The Rev. Lonnie England, before some 375 assembled guests.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilks of Wayne Road, Romulus, and The Rev. and Mrs. Lonnie England of Goddard Road, Romulus.

Before taking up residence on Sterling Street in Romulus, the newlyweds spent a week honeymooning at Mackinac Island, Tahquamenon Falls and the England family cottage on Bear Lake near Grayling.

Carrying a bouquet of white silk flowers with varie-colored roses to match her attendants' outfits, the bride appeared in a gown of white satin and chiffon with lace appliques accenting the rounded neckline and long, clear sleeves. Her cathedral-length veil drifted from a lace crown studded with seed pearls.

Rainbow hues were chosen for the bridal coterie which was headed by the maid of honor, Dawn Arnold of Wyandotte, in green.

The bridegroom's sister, Linda Skiff of Chelsea, was in yellow; Vonda Wilks of Romulus, the bride's sister, was in pale blue, and Cindy Ellsworth of Belleville was in pink. All four wore lace hats and held bouquets to match their frocks which were styled of chiffon with two layers of ruffles at the bottom, the top ruffling pulling up to form a bustle.

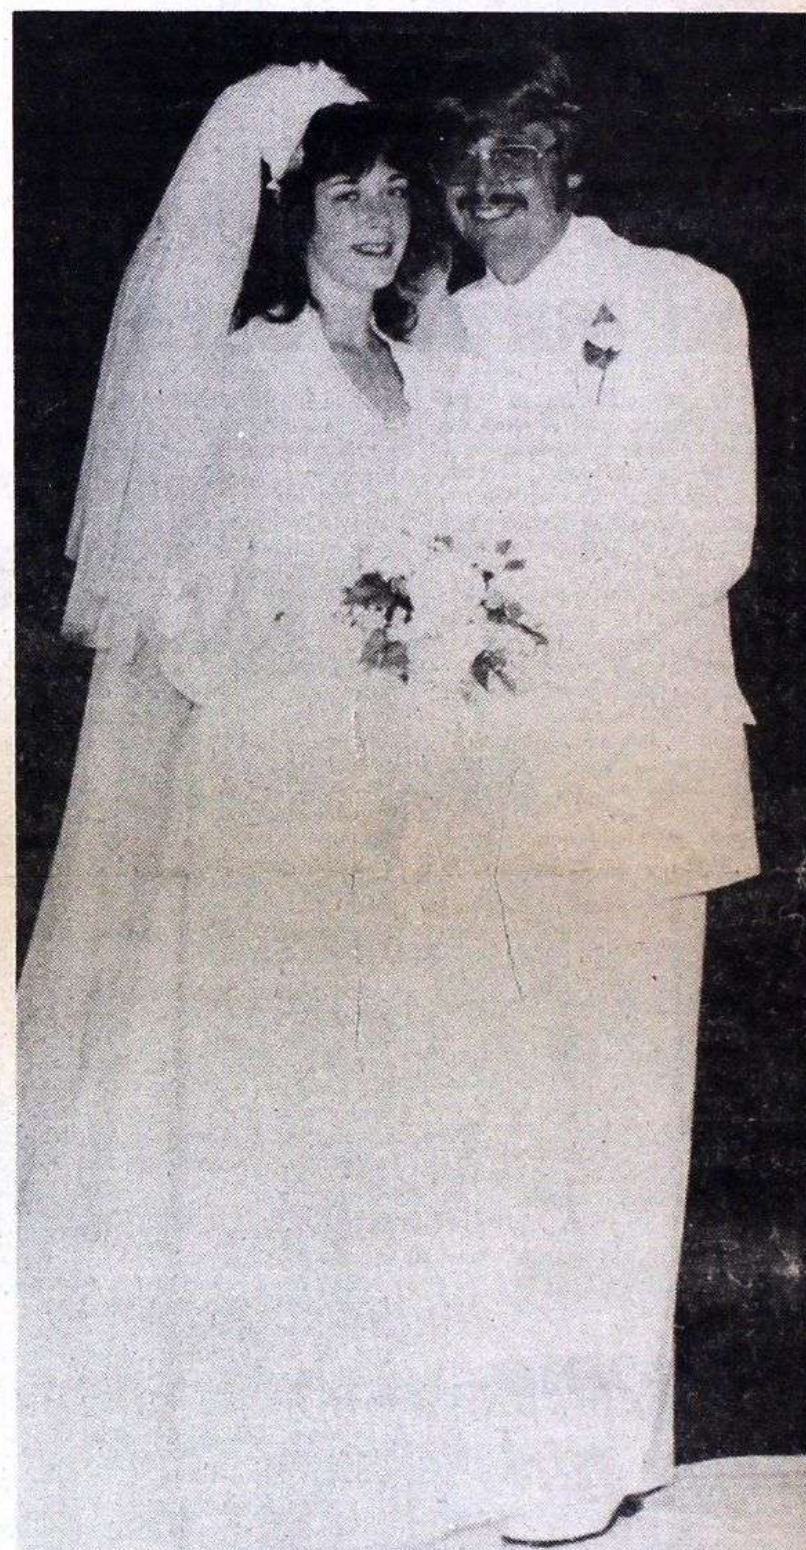

Melonie Hawley, the 5-year-old daughter of the G.R. Hawleys of Taylor, was flowergirl in a lavender dress which matched those worn by the senior attendants. The little basket she held was filled with white and lavender silk flowers.

Ringbearer was 4-year-old Jerod Wilks, son of the Robert Wilkses of Romulus and nephew of the bride.

Gerald Goodlink of Garden City assumed the duties of best man with Timothy Ellsworth of Belleville; Robert Wilks of Romulus, brother of the bride, and Colin Jordan of Romulus, serving as ushers.

For the occasion, the bride's mother wore a long gown of powder blue celestia with a corsage of blue roses and bone ribbon accenting the shoulder. A rose corsage to match her mauve gown was worn by the bridegroom's mother.

The bride attended Romulus High School and graduated from Baptist Park High School in Taylor. A graduate of Romulus High School, the bridegroom is now employed by the City of Romulus.

Clara Nohovig gets hole-in-one

One of the area's most avid golfers, 60-year-old Clara H. Nohovig, had that thrill that all golfers hope for "some day" — a hole-in-one!

Clara, a resident of Belleville Manors Mobile Home Park, aced the 118-yard 15th hole at Pine Creek Country Club on West Huron River Drive using a 5-iron.

Her daughter, Jan L. Waller, also of Belleville, witnessed the fete. Both are members of the Club which is owned by Frank Ziegler.

Kalisz Dancers entertain at BPW birthday dinner

Approximately 40 members and guests attended the 32nd birthday celebration of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club Sept. 10 at Faith United Methodist Church of Denton.

Guests included seven BPW members from Ypsilanti among whom was Joyce Mallory, former Michigan State Past President. Two Belleville BPW charter members, Irene Whalen, the Club's first president, and Marie Clayton Roberts, who presided 1955 through 1957, were honored.

The Kalisz Dancers, who had just returned from a trip to Poland, provided entertainment as arranged by the Membership Committee with Esther Smith, chairman.

The Youth Group, totaling 40, with the majority from Belleville, arrived Aug. 6 in Warsaw. They were gone three and a half weeks and performed many times. Several had relatives in Poland and were able to contact and visit them. The director and narrator, Maria Lehto, gave highlights of the trip and the performers delighted the audience with their beautiful costumes and dancing. Chairman Esther Smith gave remarks in conjunction with "International Year of the Child".

Plans were made for members to continue their monthly service to Evergreen Hills Nursing Home on Sept. 21 to assist with bingo.

On Sept. 29 the annual BPW fall rummage sale will take place at the Masonic Temple, at 9 a.m. in Belleville.

Club October dates include the next regular meeting Oct. 1 with Woman of the Year and Business Women's Week committees active. Oct. 10 is the District XV Fall meeting and Belleville is one of the hostess clubs. The annual community Blood Bank, sponsored by the BPW, will be Oct. 22. Watch for details later.

Autumn gardening tips

— Keep the garden weed-free to prevent weeds from going to seed.

— Let pumpkins and winter squash ripen thoroughly before you harvest them. The skins should be so tough that you can't easily puncture them with a thumbnail.

— Watch for elm leaf beetles, box elder bugs, crickets and mice and other insects and animals looking for winter shelter. Elm leaf beetles and box elder bugs do no damage in the home but can be a nuisance. A spray of malathion around doors and wall and foundation cracks may help to keep them out. Sealing up cracks in the foundation and other openings is more effective and will also serve to keep other pests out.

HOW IS A CASKET CHOSEN?

The funeral director maintains a casket selection room in which are displayed a large selection of quality caskets with prices to fit a wide range of family budgets. You are escorted into the room, your questions are answered and then you are left alone to make your choice. No one will attempt to influence you in the slightest way.

There are three basic types of caskets: (a) softwood caskets, covered with cloth; (b) solid hardwood caskets; (c) metallic caskets made of steel, copper or bronze.

Within each of these types of caskets there is a complete range of qualities and with different features available. The casket is chosen by type as well as quality and each must be considered on its own merit and your choice.

Each casket is accurately described, including information about type, quality and cost to help you make a selection most suitable to your circumstances. If you have further questions or would like to visit our selection rooms, we will be glad to be of help.

September lawn and garden care

There's just no fighting it: the days are getting shorter and the gardening season is coming to a close. There's still plenty to do, however. Michigan State University Extension specialists say the following lawn and garden tasks are timely in September:

- Spot seed bare spots in lawns with similar grass species. Before seeding, loosen the soil surface. Firm it afterward. Water daily — more than once, if necessary to keep the soil surface moist — until seedlings are well established.

- Spray established lawns with lawn herbicide to rid them of broadleaved weeds.

- Continue to water established lawns once a week during dry weather.

- Rake leaves as they fall to keep them from accumulating and matting on lawn areas. Chopped or ground leaves added to the compost pile will provide a supply of leafmold for mulch or soil improvement.

- Plan to apply a pound of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn in early November after the season's final mowing. A combination of slow- and fast-release fertilizers is best, but urea or ammonium nitrate is good, too.

- During dry periods, water trees and shrubs, especially newly planted stock and evergreens. Send evergreens into winter well provided with moisture to prevent drying and browning of the foliage.

- Continue to spray roses to control insects and diseases.

- Do not fertilize roses, shrubs, trees and other woody ornamentals this month. Fertilizing now could stimulate new growth that would be susceptible to cold injury. Fertilize after plants are fully dormant and cold temperatures prevail to assure good growth next spring.

- Plant shrubs, ground covers, evergreens and trees. Water thoroughly and mulch after planting. Guy if necessary to prevent trees from being whipped by the wind.

- Prune diseased, damaged or dead limbs from trees.

- When night temperatures start hitting around 55 degrees F, bring in houseplants that spent the summer outdoors. Check plants for insect and disease problems and treat these first to prevent carrying them indoors, too. Be prepared for some leaf drop as plants adjust to lower light levels.

- Harvest strawflowers for dried arrangements when the blossoms are about half open.

- Dig and pot geraniums, coleus, fibrous-rooted begonias, impatiens, fuchsia and lantana. Cut the tops back by half and treat for insects before taking the plants indoors for the winter.

- Keep picking the dead and fading blossoms from summer annuals.

- Dig gladiolus corms; allow them to dry and remove the foliage. Store in a cool, dry place in perforated bags so air can circulate freely around them.

- Dig tuberous begonias, dahlias, cannas and other tender perennials after frost has killed the tops. Cut off the foliage, leaving a short stub. Then store in damp sand or peat moss in a cool, dry storage place. Check stored bulbs regularly and discard any with mold, disease or insect damage.

- Plant peony, iris, day lily, phlox and other spring or summer blooming perennials.

- Order spring flowering bulbs for planting outdoors later or forcing indoors.

Parties for all age groups always center on goodies

It can't help but be fun to give a party for the 3- to 5-year-old set because they're such fun themselves. Main thing to remember is to keep things simple and keep it small - not more than six children. Fun and games are mostly an extension of their nursery school or kindergarten play, and it's wise to schedule the party near their regular mealtime with familiar foods a part of luncheon or supper. But it's still a party - with birthday cake, favors and Kool-Aid sugar-sweetened soft drink mix.

Shades of pink and red have particular appeal for this age group and Fruit Punch made with strawberry flavor sugar-sweetened soft drink mix and apple juice is a pretty choice for a party. Combine 1 cup of the beverage mix with 2 cups apple juice and 2 quarts of water with ice. This will yield about 10 servings - two for each youngster plus enough for exhausted parents.

This is probably the most satisfactory age group of all for birthday parties. In the first place, they love them and in the second place they're sophisticated - they've seen a party or two and you don't have to explain the old classics - pin the tail, musical chairs, peanut hunt. The kind of party they like is lots of everything - favors, decorations, games, prizes, food and drink.

Because this is an adventuresome age, try something new. Instead of two separate pitchers of prepared Kool-Aid sugar-sweetened soft drink mix, combine two favorite flavors in one. To 4 quarts of water with ice cubes, add 1 cup cherry flavor and 1 cup raspberry flavor sugar-sweetened soft drink mix.

Mix well in a plastic or glass container and there'll be enough for 16 servings. Other flavor combinations that work well are orange and raspberry and cherry and grape.

Before you know it, the London-Bridge and lollipop people have grown into teenagers. Unpredictable though they may be, one thing is certain - they are among the world's greatest party-goers and party-givers. While some of their gatherings are complete with invitations, dressing-up and all, most tend to be more or less impromptu. "Stop by for a snack" or "let's see what's in the fridge variety."

They retain a loyalty to childhood tastes, however, and prepared Kool-Aid sugar-sweetened soft drink mix is still a favorite beverage. But whereas the pink and red flavors were former favorites, sugar-sweetened lemonade flavor mix is "in" for parties - probably because it's so adaptable.

Summertime Cooler, designed for 4 or 5 servings, combines two-thirds cup orange flavored instant breakfast drink, ¼ cup sugar-sweetened lemonade flavor mix is "in" for parties - probably because it's so adaptable.

Summertime Cooler, designed for 4 or 5 servings, combines two-thirds cup orange flavored instant breakfast drink, ¼ cup sugar-sweetened lemonade flavor mix, 3-½ cups cold water and a 7 ounce bottle of chilled ginger ale. Along with a huge bowl of buttered popcorn, the stage is set for a teenage party.

Let us know about your club activities

Are you the new publicity chairman for your club or organization?

And are you wondering just how to go about getting publicity in the newspaper?

To make it easier, here a few suggestions:

Send in an OUTLINE of the activity or information, preferably typed, but if handwritten, but sure the names are printed. The outline should include the name of the club or organization, the day and date, the activity and any other information that will add to the interest of the story.

Use TWO names for an individual - such as Mary Evans or Mrs. Joseph Carter. Include their office in the organization, if they have one.

When submitting information on a coming event, be sure it reaches the newspaper two weeks in advance. Suburban Living articles are prepared on Thursday and Friday for the coming week's edition of the newspaper.

Make photo request well in advance and confirm before the date, if possible. Also, be sure photographic appointments are kept on time. The photographer works on a schedule.

Coming events have priority over past activities in publication, if a choice must be made due to space limitation in the paper.

Try to send in reports on the club's programs, etc., as soon as possible after the event so the news will be timely, rather than "stack up" the information.

Last - but, far from least, include at least TWO telephone numbers and the time when it is best to call, in case additional information or verification of information is needed.

If there are any questions regarding publicity releases, call Lee Smith on Thursday at 697-9191.

Elizabeth James honored by PM's

On Thursday evening, Aug. 30, Elizabeth James, Past Matron of Belleville Chapter No. 73, Order of the Eastern Star, was an honored guest of the Belleville Past Matrons' Association. Held in the private dining room of Bonanza the Lakewood Shopping Center, 19 members and two non-members were present for the occasion.

Besides being a dinner guest Mrs. James was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and a special decorated cake made and presented to her as a gift from Mrs. Richard Carey, a chapter member.

The affair was a special "get-together and farewell" for "Liz", who with her husband, Walt, will be moving sometime in September to Tazewell, Tenn. where they plan to make their future home.

The couple's second child, she is a new sister for 4-year-old Jerod Wilks.

Adding to their family trees that day were Amanda's grandparents, Henry and Pearl Wilks, Charlie and Maybelle Perry, Catherine Dalton and Carrie Keller, all of Romulus.

Great-grandparent honors go to William Farley of Westland and Alma Perry of Morehead, Ky.

Romulus trio on Dean's List

Three Romulus residents, Ronald E. Dick, Linda A. Joseph and Catherine L. White, were named to the Dean's List at the completion of the summer quarter at the Detroit College of Business.

To qualify for the honor, the student must achieve a 3.50 or better grade point average (B plus or better) at the end of the quarter.

Mrs. Spring is hostess at PM lunch

The first meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES, after the summer recess, was held at the Liberty Street home of Past Matron Katherine Spring on Thursday, Sept. 6.

Present for the 12:30 luncheon were 11 members and two guests, Kay Parker, Worthy Matron, and Bryant Satterlee of Westland, grandson of Dorothy Kellas.

Due to the absence of both the president and vice-president, the treasurer Frances McAtee conducted a short business meeting with chaplain Eva Luper having devotions.

A committee of three members, Dorothy Kellas, Rose Ann Welt and Katherine Spring, was appointed to plan the menu for the annual "Family Night" dinner, the date to be announced later.

The hostess presented two pencil and paper games with awards going to Kay Parker and Dorothy Kellas.

The hostess was assisted with serving the luncheon by her daughter-in-law and granddaughter, Beth and Kay Spring from Plymouth.

NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM Proposed Flood Elevation Determinations

AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration, FEMA.
ACTION: Proposed rule.
SUMMARY:

Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed base (100-year) flood elevations listed below for selected locations in the nation. These base (100-year) flood elevations are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify to remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

DATE: The period for comment will be ninety (90) days following the second publication of this proposed rule in a newspaper of local circulation in each community.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:
Mr. R. Gregg Chappell

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Federal Insurance Administration gives notice of the proposed determinations of base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations in the nation, in accordance with section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR Part 67.4 (a). These elevations, together with the flood plain management measures required by section 403 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State or Regional entities. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second year of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

The proposed base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations are:
